MR. BENNETT'S CHICKENS COMING HOME TO ROOST?

MR. ARTHUR LAING says that he detects a ground swell of resentment against the Social Credit government, and is cheered by the statement. There are many indications that he is right. Cabinet ministers are being heckled into silence at public meetings. Labor has come out flatly and told its people to "Vote anything but Social Credit." The farm vote is vocally hostile. Letters-to-the-editor are running ten to one against the incumbent party. The Premier is summoning hasty press conferences for the sole purpose of denouncing the press—a classic example, incidentally, of democracy in action.

All this is in marked contrast to the spirit of 1952 and 1953, when the prevailing mood seemed to be: "Let's give them a chance."

The government has now had three years in which to show what it could do; it could have had at least a year more, but called a snap election for reasons best known to itself.

How has its promise measured up with its performance? In the answer to that question may be found the reason for such widespread public discontent:

1. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "progressive reduction of taxes." Instead, it did exactly the opposite, until today British Columbia is the most highly taxed province in Canada.
2. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "Pay-as-you-go." Instead, it has launched massive borrowings which have skyrocketed B.C.'s total debt to new heights, and at the same time has attempted—by a curious system of reckoning—to persuade people that the debt is lower than ever.
3. Social Credit has advertised widely that it "Keeps you informed." In the Sommers-Sturdy case, which both the Premier and the Attorney-General have attempted to dismiss as unimportant, it has done exactly the opposite: it has done everything it could to keep the voters in the dark. Only the courageous action of Deane Finlayson and three newspapers, and a decision of the courts, saved free discussion on this vital matter.
4. Since the advent of Social Credit, there has been a large-scale evacuation of ten civil servants from the highway department and the P.C.E. These have been followed—perhaps circumstantially, but nonetheless ominously—by breakdowns at site.

These are but four firm, demonstrable facts contributing to public unrest about the government. Another, more abstract consideration, lies in what might be called the "tone" of government.

Arnold Webster put his finger on it, in that memorable all-night session earlier this year, when he asked the government if it couldn't muster "just a little humility" in its approach to affairs, and remember that it was a servant of the people.

The noble would have a great deal more respect for Social Credit, we feel sure, if it would sneak in a more even tone of voice: if it would admit that it made the all honest mistake: if it would stop trying to denigrate the valuable work done by the good and decent people of other parties before it came to office. The bravura nostrings, the snide innuendoes, the blatant self-righteousness of the Premier and his ministers only serve to underline their immaturity.

Mr. Bennett has called his election at a time when he considers the opposition sufficiently divided to permit him easy access to office. The current ground-swell may give him pause.

The election is now a mere technical question. Largely overlooked in the hoopla of the hustings has been the fact that a loss of only three seats—and a gain of no new ones—could place the government in a minority position. With redistribution, there are 52 seats to be contested on Wednesday, which means that the government needs to hold 27 of its 98 seats for the barest of majorities.

Opposition parties have put many fine candidates in the field. It should be noted, however, that among them only the Liberals and the CCF have nominated a full slate of candidates, and thus can hope to form a governing body. In recent years, the socialists' popular vote has been on the decline, which makes the entry of the CCF unlikely. For non-socialists, the Liberals therefore offer the only clear alternative to Social Credit. On two points alone—immediate reduction of the sales tax, and restoration of integrity to government—the Liberal Party platform deserves serious consideration.

Five Accidental Deaths Listed in B.C. Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press

Five persons died in accidents in British Columbia over the weekend.

Mrs. Marie Berkenhire, about 22, was killed when the truck she was driving left the road and overturned near Wycliffe, between Cranbrook and Kimberley.

Alexander Winnow, of Copper Mountain, died in the wreck of his car which failed to make a turn on the Hedley-Princeton highway 22 miles east of Princeton Saturday night. A 22-year-old German immigrant, whose name is being withheld, was fatally wounded in a hunting accident 20 miles south of Merritt.

Theodore Munroe, 19, was killed when struck by an east-bound CNR passenger train at Cassiar in the Prince Rupert district.

Hees Certain Drew Won't Be Retiring

TORONTO (CP)—George Hees, mentioned as a possible successor to George Drew, Progressive Conservative opposition leader now resting in a Toronto hospital, said today he is convinced Mr. Drew will continue as party leader. Mr. Hees, MP for Toronto Broadview, commented on an Ottawa dispatch Saturday in the Telegram, which said Mr. Drew's resignation is believed imminent because of ill health.

Negroes Give Up Fight to Attend Kentucky School

CLAY, Ky. (AP)—Four Negro students gave up their fight to enter school here, today, after being informed officially of a county school board order denying them admittance.

After the Negroes left, approximately 150 white children returned to class.

37 Seamen Perish As Ship Founders

BODOE, Norway (AP)—The body of a second man killed in the sinking of the American freighter Pelagia was pulled today from the icy sea off Norway.

All the ship's 37 crew members except five men plucked Sunday from a bobbing lifeboat were feared dead.

The lifeboat also contained the body of a steward who died of exposure. An air-sea search for survivors went on.

A low-lying search plane sighted the second body drifting among the debris and oil slick where the Pelagia sank in a raging storm Saturday night.

SEARCH AREA

Three planes and a score of ships and fishing boats, crisscrossed the area of the shipwreck off Norway's northwest coast.

There was a slight chance that survivors could have been washed ashore on one of the hundreds of rock islands that dot the area.

Survivors said they last saw their shipmates on the deck of the sinking freighter. They said that the gale smashed the ship's three other lifeboats and that they were afraid the others were unable to get away.

The British trawler Northern Duke found the lifeboat drifting between Myken and Traena islands, just south of the Arctic Circle. In the space of a night and a morning it had been driven 60 miles by wind and current from the point where the Pelagia sank.

The Pelagia, a Second World War Liberty ship loaded with 10,000 tons of iron ore, was bound from Narvik for Baltimore. Most of the crew were Americans.

Steward Demetrius M. Hadjicostas gave this account:

Tremendous seas rolled over the ship and smashed the No. 1 hold. It rapidly filled with water. As the water rose, the bow sank until the propellers broke clear of the water.

The seas shattered part of the bridge, damaged the deck and crushed three of the four lifeboats.

PATIENT 'EXCELLENT'

Surgeon Given Instruction For Operation by 'Phone

EDMONTON (AP)—A woman's leg and possibly her life, too, have been saved by two RCAF doctors who performed an emergency operation after receiving instructions by long-distance telephone.

Mrs. Orphie Olson was taken to the RCAF surgery at Fort Nelson, B.C., early Saturday morning suffering from a clot in the main artery to her right leg.

The two doctors on duty, Flt. Lt. Dick Foulkes and Flt. Lt. Derek Walker, fearing the surgery would set in before the 59-year-old woman could be flown to Edmonton, 450 miles southwest, for an operation, decided to operate on the scene.

Not being qualified surgeons, they telephoned Dr. John Callaghan of the University Hospital, Edmonton, for advice as to how to operate. For nearly three-quarters of an hour, the doctor explained the procedure point by point.

Meticulously following Dr. Callaghan's instructions they then operated on Mrs. Olson and succeeded in restoring the blood flow.

Meanwhile, a Dakota aircraft, piloted by Flt. Lt. Al Kerslake, was sent from the RCAF base near Edmonton to fly the woman here.

Mrs. Olson now is in University Hospital, where she is in excellent condition.

Bitter Election Fight Roars Into Final Days

Premier in Scuffle With CCF Candidate

British Columbia's election campaign, which has turned into one of the bitterest in recent history, today roared down the home stretch to the voting on Wednesday.

In the Greater Victoria area alone 12 campaign meetings are scheduled for this evening as candidates prepared their final shots for the voters.

Meanwhile, among party leaders, there was growing indication of the intenseness of the campaign, with these weekend developments:

1. In Vancouver, Premier Bennett denounced the Vancouver Sun for a front page editorial on "political trickery" last week and accused publisher Donald Cromie with trying to set up a "super government over the public representatives." Cromie described this as silliness.

2. In Mission City Saturday night Premier Bennett scuffled with a CCF candidate who rushed up to his platform to shout at him.

3. And in Victoria Liberal leader Arthur Laing declared: "The people are suddenly rising... We have caught up with this government and have them on the run."

4. Attorney-General Robert Bonner has flatly and categorically denied a claim by CCF Leader Robert Strachan that the "Butler Report" contains a paragraph saying there is enough evidence to establish a prima facie case against former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers.

Mr. Bonner charged the Opposition leader with deliberately attempting to mislead the people.

"The deputy attorney-general has reviewed the RCMP report at my request," Mr. Bonner said. "He advises me that neither the paragraph described nor one to that effect are anywhere to be found in the report."

'Beat Socred' Ad Issued By Labor Body

Organized labor in Victoria spoke out publicly today against the "snap election" called by the Social Credit government for Wednesday.

Secretary of Victoria Labor Council Percy Raymond released contents of an advertisement to be published prior to the election, headed "Defeat the Socreds."

It says:

"Because... thousands disenfranchised by snap election; Government employees denied equal rights under the Labor Relations Act;

"Control of our natural resources passing into the hands of large corporations;

"No public investigation of charges of corruption; Get out and vote."

FIRST MOVE

It is the first time former Trades and Labor Congress segment of the new Victoria Labor Council has ever taken an active, outspoken stand in politics, Mr. Raymond said.

The statement follows stands taken by the council in a regular meeting two weeks ago, and a statement of policy issued by B.C. Federation of Labor, provincial organization of the former Canadian Labor Congress.

CKDA will co-operate in giving the voters of Victoria and southern Vancouver Island the full, up-to-the-minute provincial election coverage on Wednesday night.

Polls close at 8 p.m. daylight time and The Times-CKDA team will swing into action immediately as counting of the votes begins.

A running story will continue through the night until local seats are decided and the main picture on the outcome of the election throughout the province is settled.

Province-wide as well as local summaries will be maintained on large blackboards at The Times and results will be supplied by telephone 2-3131 to the public. CKDA meanwhile will maintain continuous broadcasts

U.S. Ready to Help Pay For Hike in Oil Export

Europe's Fuel Demands Will Be Met If Canal Use 'Impracticable'—Dulles

(UP and AP Dispatches)

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced today that the United States is prepared to finance oil exports from this country to western Europe in case that transit through the Suez Canal becomes "impracticable."

He made the announcement to newsmen at the White House after conferring with President Eisenhower on the Suez crisis.

Dulles left by plane this afternoon for a new conference in London on the Suez crisis. Dulles said that in event Egypt blocks the canal, there might have to be increased exports of oil from the United States to Europe.

He said this government is prepared to finance such exports through the export-import bank.

As for a report that this country is prepared to put up $500,000,000 to finance a detour of the canal around the South African Cape of Good Hope, Dulles said this government has reached no agreement with any other nation.

In London, Dulles will participate in a meeting of 18 governments which failed in efforts to reach agreement on the canal operation.

Not Trying to Organize Boycott

Dulles reiterated in a formal statement issued after his conference with the president that "we are not trying to organize any boycott of the canal."

In order to achieve a united appeal to the UN Dulles is understood to be ready to consider major revisions in a plan for a Suez Canal users' association. Co-operative establishment of the plan is the principal purpose of the new conference.

This proposal, originated by Dulles but unveiled by Prime Minister Eden last week, calls for the 18 nations to demand that their own pilots be permitted to guide their vessels through the 103-mile canal.

Reports from London say 16 out of the 18 countries which originally backed the plan for international control of the canal have accepted invitations to the new conference here Wednesday.

But many expressed misgivings about the idea of the users' association and made it plain they were not committing themselves in advance to adopting the plan denounced by Egyptian President Nasser as a step toward war.

Meanwhile, Egypt reintroduced the three-convoy system to speed ships through the canal. Convoys were cut to two during Saturday and Sunday after most non-Egyptian pilots quit.

Russian pilot-trainees were aboard four ships in the third convoy, the second southbound convoy that left here today. A third southbound convoy was due to leave here tonight.

The Russians were being instructed by Egyptian pilots. It was expected the Russians would train for 10 days to two weeks before taking ships through on their own.

Today's three convoys totalled 36 ships. There were eight ships on the first southbound convoy and four in the second. At the same time, 24 ships were moving northbound from Suez.

Shipping lines operating through the canal to and from British and European ports today announced a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. The increase, effective Tuesday, will cover added costs caused by any delay in moving through the canal.

British papers began warning their readers of possible oil rationing and higher food prices.

Island Plane Lands Safely on Highway

VANCOUVER (CP) — The search for a missing silver-colored Luscombe aircraft was called off today when word was received at RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver that the plane with its pilot and passenger had landed on a highway near Nanaimo.

Pilot H. Forbes and his son, Barry, 19, both of Port Alberni, had been reported missing Sunday night on a 90-mile flight from Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley, to Nanaimo.

An RCAF spokesman said Forbes landed his plane at Mayo's Landing in swirling fog shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday, the time he was due in Nanaimo.

A Canso aircraft of the RCAF flew out early today when no word was received from Forbes. The downed pilot notified authorities of his position shortly afterwards at 8:40 a.m. and the search was called off.

ELECTION

"Mr. Strachan's imputations are not only completely and utterly false, but unfortunately are typical of the loathsome nature of the campaign being waged by the opposition."

Premier Bennett's row with The Sun developed after he called a sudden press conference Saturday, following a stormy election meeting Friday night.

REQUEST REFUSED

The premier said he had asked publisher Cromie to give him front page space to reply to the stinging editorial of The Sun last week. He said Mr. Cromie had refused.

Today Mr. Cromie said the newspaper will carry on its front page any reply Premier Bennett may make to the editorial.

He said the percentage of the premier's material on page one will depend on its total length and "the closeness with which he, Mr. Bennett, holds to the editorial points."

The editorial, accusing the premier of "deceits and slick political trickeries," was carried on the front page.

In his statement at a press conference Premier Bennett called Mr. Cromie a "newspaper baron . . . trying to set up a super-government over the public representatives."

Mr. Bennett's statement also appeared on the Sun's front page.

The publisher today said Mr. Bennett's "belated Saturday noon request" for three front-page columns in today's edition was too late for serious consideration.

SILLY CLAIM

Mr. Cromie said the premier knows enough "to realize the silliness of suggesting that I conceive 'setting up a super-government over our public representatives'."

At Mission Saturday the premier's scuffle with CCF candidate Nararajan Crewall climaxed a rowdy election rally attended by 600 persons of mixed political sympathies.

SEIZED BY LAPELS

Mr. Crewall rushed from the rear of the crowded hall to the platform during one of several outbursts of heckling and admonished the premier, who seized him by the coat lapels and advised him to sit down.

The ensuing scuffle, which resembled a waltz around the microphone, was broken up by several of the premier's supporters seated on the platform.

Tension mounted again when a youthful heckler, who had called the premier a liar, left the platform hurriedly when Mission Reeve Edward Jones threatened to call the police.

Hardly one of Premier Bennett's statements passed without loud comment from hecklers during his two-and-a-half-hour address which ended without a question period.

"I want the people of this province to watch what is happening here tonight," Mr. Bennett said.

"It's not your province, Bennett," came the reply.

"You never saw Social Crediters act like this," said the premier, drawing cheers from supporters.

He repeated his promise that Social Credit will wipe out the provincial debt by 1962.

OFFER TO BET

"You won't be here in 1962," retorted a heckler.

"I'll be here in '82, you'll never get us out," said Mr. Bennett, and offered to take a wager on it.

In an interview outside the hall after the rally, Mr. Grewall said he had been trying to question the premier about a "libellous open letter."

It was alleged the letter had been sent to many Mission residents. Mr. Grewall, said to be the first East Indian to run for provincial office in Canada, said the letter attacked his citizenship and honesty.

RCAF JETS CELEBRATE 'THEIR FINEST HOUR'

OTTAWA (CP)—Twelve CF-100 fighters flew low in tight formation over Parliament Hill Sunday as 1,200 RCAF personnel marched past below in a salute to Battle of Britain Sunday.

Air Vice-Marshal R. E. McBurney, retired, took the salute from a dais in front of Parliament's Peace Tower. Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon, chief of the air staff, and other high-ranking air officers, watched the march-past from the dais.

It marked the 16th anniversary of the Battle of Britain. Similar ceremonies were held at RCAF bases across the country and overseas.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain remembered Battle of Britain Sunday with country-wide memorial services and RAF parades.

About 150 relatives of airmen who died in action were among the large congregation at a thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey.

Huge Firepower Amplifies U.S. Middle East Forces

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON—The United States, in this time of new crisis in the Middle East, has about the same number of military units and slightly less military manpower deployed in the European-Mediterranean area than it had four or five years ago.

But in the intervening years firepower available to those forces has been amplified thousands of times through the new availability of nuclear weapons, guided missiles and land and sea-based jet planes.

Defence department spokesmen emphasized today there has been no sudden build-up of American forces as a result of the dispute over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. This is in line with proclaimed government policy against using the force of arms to keep the canal open.

So far as can be determined (the precise current figures are military secrets) the overall American military strength in Europe is about 320,000.

Those forces could unleash firepower greater than all American forces in Europe in the Second World War.

Lydia Fires Blast At School Textbooks

Some B.C. school textbooks are leading children into delinquency, Mrs. Lydia Arsens told a Social Credit meeting Saturday night.

The Victoria city candidate alleged that these textbooks "are teaching our 13-year-olds how to date their girl friends when they can't even remember to keep their ears clean."

"That sort of thing leads to delinquency," Mrs. Arsens said. She referred to J. Alan Reid, who in 1952 blasted the Effective Living course then being taught in B.C. Mr. Reid said sex was being taught in the schools in the Effective Living course.

"We have to get rid of these books which were introduced by the old Coalition government," Mrs. Arsens said.

Effective Living was removed from the course of studies and a similar compulsory course, Health and Personal Development, is now being taught.

Ald. J. Donald Smith, another Victoria Social Credit candidate, referred to the hecklers who have been interrupting Premier Bennett at recent meetings.

"We don't mind the odd heckler. It shows we have a democracy. But organized heckling is a sign of poor sportsmanship," he said.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, the third Victoria Social Credit candidate, stressed the need for a civic auditorium in Victoria.

"The climate here is suitable for conventions all the year round and Victoria could draw some of the largest if it had an auditorium," he said.

Mr. Chant said the capital city grant for Victoria would be increased to $75,000 next year.

He added that Liberal candidate George Gregory had said he would ask for a $500,000 grant "but he did not say he would give it."

McMahon Threat To B.C.—Laing

'Doing More to Tear Down Democracy Than a Commie' Says Liberal Chief

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing hit out at oil and gas magnate Frank McMahon Saturday night as a multi-millionaire financier who "is doing more to tear down democracy than a Commie would."

"I am absolutely ashamed of Frank McMahon," said Mr. Laing in a scathing two-hour address to 300 people at Victoria High School under the chairmanship of Senator Nancy Hodges.

He attacked Mr. McMahon for his outspoken support of Premier Bennett when the premier and members of his government visited the start of the McMahon natural gas line at Fort St. John on Aug. 31.

Mr. McMahon is president of the Westcoast Transmission Company which is now building the 688-mile gas line from the Peace River to Vancouver. He also heads Pacific Petroleum Ltd. which is mining the gas.

When the premier visited

Fort St. John, Mr. McMahon declared three former B.C. premiers (T. D. Pattullo, John Hart and Byron Johnson) had done "nothing" about Peace River gas and said:

"We had to wait for the Bennett government to get any kind of action."

Of this Mr. Laing said: "It is bad enough for politicians to abuse their predecessors. But when a multi-millionaire financier turns around and abuses three former premiers—one not now living and two others who are incapacitated because of their services to this province—I say he is doing more to tear down democracy than a Commie would."

McMahon Empire in Peace River

"He is an influential man and he should know better. We have a McMahon empire up there in the north. It is a private pipeline and no one can put gas in it but Mr. McMahon."

"No wonder he got up and praised Mr. Bennett."

Mr. Laing further charged that Premier Bennett's mass meeting in the Georgia auditorium, Vancouver, last Friday, was organized by "three young men." They were:

"The public relations officer for a company from which Gagliardi has bought $1,000,000 worth of machines in the last few months."

"The representative of firms with forest management licences, and the executive assistant to Mr. Frank McMahon."

Socras Are Welcome to Assestine

"As far as W. J. Assestine (former Liberal minister) is concerned, Mr. Bennett is welcome to him. I only hope he causes Mr. Bennett as much embarrassment as he caused the Liberal administration."

(Mr. Assestine is running as Social Credit candidate for Atlin in the Sept. 19 election.)

The Liberal leader drew resounding applause from his audience when he said Premier Bennett should be "thrown out of public office" for his statement that B.C. had the lowest tax rate of any province.

"I am making due allowance for the fact that the premier was disturbed and jittery when he made this ridiculous statement," Mr. Laing added.

He cited figures to show that B.C. has 8 per cent of Canada's population and pays 15 per cent of its taxes, and that 56 per cent of B.C.'s taxes come directly from consumers, while industry pays $28,000,000 for its natural resources.

Real Danger of Disaster on PGE

"This railway is in trouble—very serious trouble. I'll stake my future on it: we're going to have an economic disaster. And I want to tell Mr. Einar Gunderson, who doesn't know as much about a railway as I do, that if we don't have an economic disaster we will have a physical disaster."

Mr. Laing charged that the government had brought agriculture in B.C. to "a perilous condition," and said if the Liberal party were returned to power it would, if necessary, provide $5,000,000 to put agriculture back on its feet.

DREAM FOR SALE

Fiji Island Cost Scores 100 Bidders

SYDNEY (CP)—More than 100 persons attended the auction sale here of a "dream" island in the Pacific, but nobody bid up to the reserve price of $121,500.

Top bid was $100,000, but the owner, Group Capt. Garner Malley, formerly of the Royal Australian Air Force, refused to accept it.

His island is in the Lau group, off Viti Levu (Fiji). Known as Nabavatu, the island has five miles of coastline, a spacious residence with electricity and its own radio-telephone.

It has a copra plantation, cattle, pigs and poultry, an abundance of tropical and citrus fruit, and supplies of hardwood timber and trochus shell.

LUNCH TIME FOR THE JETS

World's first seaplane tanker capable of handling a multiple refueling job provides "lunch" for four Grumman F-94-8 Cougar jets from Miramar, Calif., naval air station at a rendezvous off La Jolla, Calif. The four-turboprop, dual-purpose transport-tanker has been designated as the Convair R3Y-2

"Tradewind." Already under delivery to the U.S. Navy, ships of her type carry enough fuel in wing tanks to service eight fighter planes. The Tradewind has been able to complete a four-unit refueling job in less than five minutes. When used as a transport, she can carry 25 tons of cargo or up to 103 passengers. (NEA.)

CHALLENGE TO PREMIER

Liberal Leader Arthur Laing challenged Premier Bennett here Saturday night "To deny that at this moment the foremost rock engineers in B.C. are inspecting the Pacific Great Eastern roadbed."

Along the publicly-owned rail line, he said, "Certain rock is moving an inch a day and they want to know if they can save it."

"I'll stake my future on this, we're going to have an economic disaster there."

'Houdini' Act Proves Value Of Life Preserver

PORT ALBERNI—A logging company safety supervisor proved his own safety invention here with a demonstration resembling a Houdini act.

George Geddes, an employee of MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., was bound hand and foot and thrown into Alberni Inlet wearing his invention, the "Geddes bi-tube floater," a life preserver for boom men.

The floater, worn like a pair of suspenders, is designed to keep heavily dressed loggers afloat when they fall from log booms.

It consists chiefly of two inflated tubes each about two inches in diameter.

'No Smear if Only Truth Is Told' Gregory Says After Sign Complaint

Victoria Liberal candidate George Gregory was "amazed"

Saturday afternoon when a woman rang up and accused him of "smearing" Highway Minister P. A. Gagliardi because of a picture published in the Times.

The picture showed Mr. Gregory putting up a notice alongside one of Mr. Gagliardi's "Sorry for the Inconvenience" signs on the Malahat. Mr. Gregory's notice pointed out that the federal government is paying half the cost of the Trans-Canada Highway.

"Less than an hour after that issue of the Times hit the street, a woman phoned and said I was smearing Mr. Gagliardi," Mr. Gregory told a Liberal rally in Victoria High School.

ONLY TRUTH

HIS SLO-MOS WERE QUEENS

Speedboat King, Stan Sayers, Dies

SEATTLE (AP)—Stanley S. Sayers, whose Slo-Mo twins reigned as the queens of world speedboat racing for five straight years from 1950 to 1955, died of a heart attack today. He was 60.

Sayers' wife, Madeline, found her husband's body in his bed at their Lake Washington home at 6:10 a.m.

Sayers' Slo-Mo-Shun IV was the holder of the world speed record for propeller-driven boats, 178.47 mph.

The retired automobile dealer stunned speedboat racing circles in 1950 when the Slo-Mo IV invaded Detroit, the acknowledged home of hydroplane racing, and beat Detroiters on their home ground for the Gold Cup.

Sayers brought the cup and the race to Lake Washington and successfully defended the big bowl for four years, winning with Slo-Mo IV in 1952 and 1953 and with the Slo-Mo-Shun V in 1954 and 1955.

Joe Schoenheit won the race and took the trophy back to Detroit last year with Gale V, driven by young Lee Schoenheit.

Last year's race saw the first of two disastrous mishaps which wiped Sayers out of hydroplane racing.

FLIPPED OVER

During the 1955 Gold Cup time trials, the Slo-Mo V, being piloted by Lou Fagel of Kent, Ohio, flipped backwards while roaring along at 165 miles per hour. Fagel received critical injuries.

The Slo-Mo V was seriously damaged and Sayers eventually sold the craft to a Seattle syndicate which rebuilt her as Miss Seattle. Fagel, retired from competitive driving.

The accident led Sayers to announce that he was quitting hydroplane racing, but he brought the Slo-Mo IV out of retirement for the Seattle seafair race.

Disaster again hit the Slo-Mo camp in the 1956 Gold Cup race at Detroit.

The IV, affectionately known in this area as the "Grand Old Lady," hit the wake from a harbor patrol boat during time trials and flipped, critically injuring driver Joe Taggart.

The boat, its hull shattered and torn, was brought back home this weekend.

21 British Ships Lost During 1955

LONDON (Reuters)—Twenty-one British-registered merchant ships, other than fishing vessels, were lost in 1955, according to figures published here by the ministry of transport and civil aviation. The tonnage lost—25,392 gross—was less than 65 per cent of that for 1954 and was the second lowest total on record.

$6.6 Million in Projects Seen for December Voting

Greater Victoria ratepayers may be asked to approve expenditures totalling $6,650,000 in December for expansion of schools, municipal halls and the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Proposals to be placed before municipal councils include:

The borrowing of $3,000,000 for Greater Victoria schools; up to $2,000,000 for a joint city-Saanich municipal hall; $1,400,000 for a four-storey addition to the hospital, and $250,000 for an Oak Bay municipal hall.

NECESSARY

Each project is considered a necessity by authorities, due to population expansion.

Greater Victoria School Board says only passage of a by-law to provide a new high school, a new junior high, five elementary and additions to 10 other schools will avoid recurrence of shift systems.

Overcrowding at Saanich municipal hall is so severe, temporary additional quarters must be found or a proposed plan for a new joint hall with the city must be proceeded with, Reeve Arthur Ash said last week he thought plans for the latter would be far enough advanced for a money-by-law at the time of December elections.

Rough estimates show the city needs 53,000 square feet; Saanich needs 28,000 square feet, of administration space.

Mayor Percy Scurrh thought cost would range as high as $25 a square foot—which would mean a $2,000,000 construction.

Oak Bay council has already approved holding of a vote in December for erection of a $250,000 (estimated) hall, to be built on the site of the old Oak Bay elementary school on Oak Bay Avenue.

The hospital expansion plans have been under discussion since 1954. Bed shortages have been acute. All four councils of Greater Victoria have approved a 125-bed addition. But no agreement was reached on how costs should be shared.

Board chairman F. G. Mulliner said today, "We can't keep putting it off. Every year there are 5,000 more people coming in."

BREAKDOWN

Suggested cost-sharing had been on the following basis: provincial government, $700,000; federal government, $150,000; hospital board, $225,000; Victoria, $160,250; Saanich, $80,650; Oak Bay, $37,375; Esquimalt, $31,550; other contributions, $7,175.

(Provincial assistance would account for about 50 per cent of the cost of the school building program. The balance would be shared approximately as follows: Victoria, 55 per cent; Esquimalt, 5 per cent; Oak Bay, 17 per cent; Saanich, 23 per cent; rural areas, 2 per cent.)

Mr. Mulliner said he will propose the hospital expansion plan be dusted off and handed once again to local councils in time for December voting.

Stumbling block in earlier negotiations had been lack of faith in 1951 census figures on which the proposed cost sharing had been based.

But new census figures from this year's count should be available soon, Mr. Mulliner said.

The Big Blur

AT FREQUENT INTERVALS the Federal Government announces the details of its current revenue collections and its expenditures. Every citizen of Canada knows exactly where the public treasury stands. But no citizen of British Columbia, unless he is a member of the Government or an official of the finance department, knows where the provincial treasury stands today. No one outside the Parliament Buildings will know until a report is made to the Legislature next year.

The Provincial Governments asks another mandate of power but it evidently does not intend to give the people an accounting of their own business before the polls close. As in the Sommers case, we shall get the facts long after the election. We must take Mr. Bennett's word, unsupported by any figure, that the treasury enjoys a large revenue surplus, that debt is being reduced while borrowings increase and that everything is going fine.

All we know for sure is that Mr. Bennett has no intention of cutting taxes by any substantial amount. When the Liberal Party proposed to reduce the sales tax from 5 to 4 per cent Mr. Bennett said this loss of revenue would wreck the hospital insurance scheme, which the Liberals deny. Apparently he thinks that the insignificant tax cuts he has made already—after a drastic increase—are all he can afford.

Considering the huge expenditures he is making now and the ever-increasing commitments he is assuming for the future, he probably will need every cent he can collect before long. But does British Columbia need a Government determined to spend and tax on this scale, the highest per capita ever known in Canada?

Mr. Eric Martin gives a genial answer when he is asked how the Government can reduce debt by borrowing more and more money from Wall Street. The Government, he says, keeps two sets of books—presumably a financial set and a political set. This statement has the virtue of candor but it adds nothing to our knowledge of our own affairs. It is to be doubted indeed that any Canadian electorate ever went to the polls so ignorant of its own affairs under a Government so determined to keep them dark.

The statement that we are wiping out the public debt is so transparently deceptive that hardly anyone believes it. What about the PGE Railway which, according to Mr. Bennett, is now earning large profits and will soon earn more? Does it also have two sets of books?

In an operation of this sort only an auditor can say whether real profits are being earned or losses concealed. The Transport Board in Ottawa requires a corps of experts to determine the real position of the CPR and they seldom agree with the railway's experts. Mr. Bennett merely tells us from time to time that PGE profits are large and rising but he gives us no break-down of the figures.

The Government's current tax collections, its expenditures, its debt and the position of its railway are equally mysterious to a public which is asked, as in the Sommers case, to vote without the facts.

One thing, however, is sure: If Mr. Bennett is given another electoral mandate he will accept it as a mandate to spend and borrow more. Already he is established as the greatest spender in Canadian history but he is just getting nicely into his stride. And oddly enough this is the man who came to office on a promise of economy and with an almost pathological horror of debt.

No Gain for the Kremlin

WHEN THE PRESENT RULERS of Russia peeled the gilt from Stalin's memory and applied the tarbrush, the reasons for their action appeared largely domestic. They still do.

But a valuable by-product of the process promised to be the strengthening of Moscow's attraction for leftists beyond the Soviet borders. Where Socialists had drifted further and further apart from Communists, the Kremlin hoped to see reconciliation, with Russian Communism again becoming the spiritual font for the combined forces—the re-education of the world's popular fronts subject to Moscow domination.

In Italy, where the extreme left has traditionally maintained a European bastion, the reverse appears to have resulted. Since 1947 the Italian Socialist Party has been split, the major left-wing group headed by Pietro Nenni, having worked under a unity of action agreement with the Communists, the smaller right-wing faction led by Giuseppe Saragat with the Christian Democrats in the government.

At present, reports indicate, there is a merger under way between right and left-wing Socialists in Italy. If it is effected, the indications are that Nenni Socialists will no longer be the tail of the Communists' kite. Certainly the general impression seems to be that even the left-wing elements recognize the desirability of charting Italian foreign policy along lines geared to that of the Western powers.

And the Italian Socialists are said to have been influenced in this direction by the Socialist leaders of France and Britain, as well as the Socialist International.

The Khrushchev-Bulgarian smile, it appears, is not convincing to Italians.

'Solid Progress'

THE DISORDERS IN A NUMBER of southern communities that marked the attempt of Negroes to attend desegregated schools were shocking enough. Apart from the evil effects of the demonstrations on the persons concerned, considerable bad publicity for the United States, and for democracy, found its way abroad.

But the New York Times reminds us that, although spectacular and inviting headlines—the rioting was by no means typical. The process of desegregation continues despite obstructions in various places. As President Eisenhower has commented, there are more level heads than hotheads in the southern states.

The New York Times points out as an example that while ugly incidents marred the record in one small Kentucky town, "almost 90 per cent of the counties of the state are now operating peacefully under integrated school systems." Large cities such as Louisville have joined other southern or border cities—Baltimore, Washington and St. Louis among them—in opening their schools to whites and Negroes alike.

One source says that "several score" school districts in the south have inaugurated integrated schools this term. About 2,000 Negro students are enrolled in more than 100 institutions of higher learning which formerly catered only to white students.

That, comments The Times, is "solid progress." It gives great hope that the outposts of racialism will become fewer and fewer, and that as time goes on the enlightened attitude to the problem, envisioned in the federal desegregation legislation, will become universal.

could other people who dislike and distrust the word-recognition system. But the actual method, or system, is not apparently the basis of success at Minton.

In that town teachers handling the very young pupils have a work schedule which allows them to give greater individual attention to each child because classes can be reduced to a total of 15 members.

In the small group lies the strength of Minton. Were Victoria and other British Columbia primary teachers graced with classes no larger than 15, doubtless they too could establish records. The miracle of Minton lies not in its particular method of teaching, but in arranging matters so that each teacher has so few children to teach.

Johnny Can Read in Minton

AS THE NEW SCHOOL YEAR gets under way, the city of Minton, Mass., attracts public attention across the continent for its exceptional success in one field of education. It is, according to report, far ahead of the U.S. average in teaching children to read.

The actual techniques do not appear to differ materially in Minton from those applied elsewhere. The system seems to be a combination of phonics and word recognition.

A child may not learn that the letter B sounds "b," explains one observer, but he will learn that it sounds the beginning of "boys" and "bat."

Rudolf Flesch, who complained because "Johnny can't read," could find objections to the procedure. So

The Three Musketeers

'WE LOOK BEFORE AND AFTER'

By B. A. TOBIN

Breather at the Milestone

THEY say editorial page writers are just reporters whose legs gave out. It's a sobering thought for a fellow who has reached the age when autumn has become an appropriate time of the year for a birthday.

In the earlier years September didn't seem such a fitting month. A birthday then was a spring-like event. It heralded a new year, a new deal, a new bowl of cherries to gobble. But now, a few turning leaves and the start of the year's decline are more in keeping with the spirit of the thing. I haven't quite hit the "sere and yellow leaf" yet. But I'm not as green as I was either.

Perhaps the most impressive thing about the later birthdays is that the wheel spins much faster now. There isn't half as much time between birthdays as there used to be.

Long Years

There was a youthful period when summer holidays lasted beyond memory. You couldn't remember the start of them by the time the end had come around. Each school term was a lifetime; it stretched so far ahead and behind that it could not be considered as a passing phase of a boy's life, it was all life itself.

Yet now the annual holidays slip by with hardly time to plan between them, the winter work months are a blur of activity. Months seem to be a blur of only 24 hours separated them. The whole concept of time has changed; the old standard of measurement doesn't seem to apply any more.

Your ever-growing load of memories does not slow your accelerating progress through life. On the contrary, it seems to quicken it, for the recollections that stand out from other years help you to overlook the long days between them. The big events become symbols for a whole year, and the humdrum of the rest of the year is forgotten.

With Labels

Thus you have the year of the overseas trip, the year of the new house, the year of the baby, the year of the new job, and other labels. By looking back only at such highlights, the years seem shorter and the speed of passage seems greater.

Some memories obviously hold their place unchanged. The first day at school, the college graduation, the first airplane ride, the Christmas that brought a bicycle—such events don't need an entry in a diary to make them readily recalled. And less pleasant happenings —a broken leg, perhaps, or a car accident—leave their imprint for life.

But how can you account for the clarity of ridiculous little memories that have no significance and no importance? Everyone has dozens of them.

I can remember pulling a little sled with high red runners along Gordon Street at the time of the Big Snow. I can show you the exact spot on the sidewalk where a man walking behind me gave the sled a slight push and the footrest slid up and bumped the calf of my leg as I walked. I remember nothing immediately before or after the incident. But although it occurred nearly forty years ago the sight and the feeling of that moment are as clear as though the thing had happened this morning. Why?

It's a startling thing on a birthday to realize that a large proportion of the material things the world enjoys today have been developed, even discovered, during my lifetime.

Major Changes

Two big wars and a lot of little ones have come and gone. Thrones have toppled, nations have risen and fallen, a whole new balance of world power has developed.

Electronics and aircraft have revolutionized the world I was born into. Chemistry and physics have vastly changed the working and leisure habits, the eating and health customs, of a large part of the world. A tremendous impetus, to scientific achievement has brought the earth from a static 19th century complacency to the threshold of the atomic age.

Surely no period in the history of the world has seen so many important changes occur in little more than half a man's lifetime. I and the relatively few millions of men and women who share my age group are a unique generation! We have no duplicate in all the recorded story of mankind!

What Reaction?

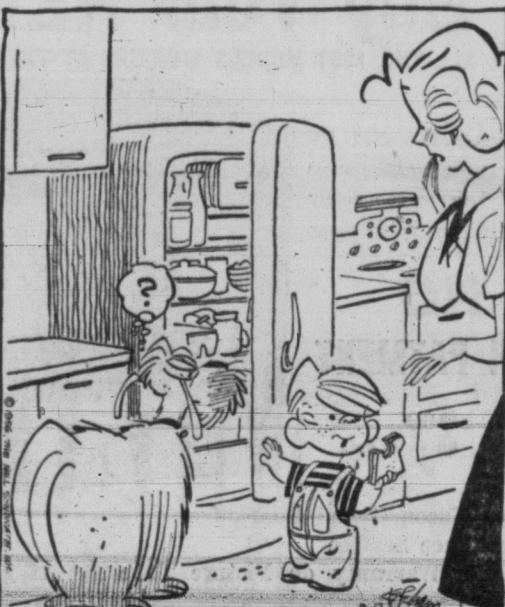

That, of course, is just an expression of wonderment, not a boast. Not unless you have contributed to the changes that have taken place can you take any credit for them.

Man has built himself a brave new world, there can be no doubt about it. But it's going to be interesting to see what the world he has created does to him.

Frankly, apart from some notable improvements in health and comfort, I'm not convinced that the world we've got now is a better environment for living than the one I first opened my eyes on. The material props we have brought on stage will not necessarily make the lines or the acting any better.

But there need be no rush for the theatre exits on that account. The next half-lifetime could be better than ever.

As Our Readers See It

Available to All—But . . .

Mr. Bennett has since 1952 made a number of "rash" statements, several of which have proved actual falsehoods. In his campaign speech, for instance, he stated, with regard to hospital insurance, that "its benefits are now available to all people in British Columbia." The truth is that it is only available if you have lived in the province a year. Otherwise you must pay the minimum of $16.50 per day.

A MONITOR.

With a Difference

I recently moved here from Lethbridge, Alta. with my wife and three children. We have purchased a home here and I have gone to a position that I arranged for before leaving home.

The other day my employer and work mates were discussing a hospital scheme, and you can imagine my amazement when I discovered that I can have the very questionable honor of paying Mr. Bennett's 5 per cent tax for a whole 12 months before I can apply for hospitalization, as put up by the province. Isn't that a grand way to welcome new residents to your province? Anyone could understand a waiting period of three months. But a whole year!

Let me go on a little further. I have noted Mr. Bennett saying that he is vitally interested in keeping the cost of living down as much as possible, yet I notice his 5 per cent tax on the telephone bill, electric light bill and a host of strictly essential home items. This tax certainly helps to raise the cost of living here in B.C. drastically. One thing in particular that grates me is the tax on school supplies. This is one expense which is terrific.

You may be sure of one thing that even though I very definitely supported Manning and his cohorts in Alberta, I most assuredly will not support Bennett and his chiselers in B.C.

Great Betrayal

What about the great betrayal? A party that gained office in 1952 offering a policy of economy, reduced taxation, and no more borrowing has become so intoxicated with sudden access to power and wealth, the opportunity to disburse millions of other people's money, they boast loudly about spending more in four years than all other governments of the past 50 years. Then show off and boast about "Getting Things Done."

Two 1954 sales tax revenues were over $55 million. The cost of B.C.H.S. was over $26 million. Much of this money was exacted as tribute in pennies from the poor, so that a man who fancies himself as a little Caesar can shovel it out with a bulldozer and boast that his appropriations for 1956 would be double those of 1955. This, while they impose a rigid "freeze" on hospital operating costs and employees wages.

Milk and the Vote

For the last quarter century we have given the best years of our lives, working 16 to 18 hours a day, to the production and sale of raw milk from our own farm on the East Road, Sidney.

We had hoped our son and his wife would prosper after taking over the business.

Now the new rules and regulations covering milk have put them out of the raw milk business. The costs entailed are beyond their means.

Why, we ask, are so many controlled by so few? Surely our freedom is slowly slipping from us.

Small Loggers

The criticism by Frank Snowsall, C.C.F., regarding scaling of timber and employment of small operators in the B.C. Forest Products licence is correct.

Last year one small operator in Cowichan Lake sold a boom of logs to Youbou sawmill, B.C. Forest Products. A company employee acting on behalf of the Government scaled this boom, which resulted in quite a dispute. The Government scaling department was called in and after four check scales were taken a second cheque was immediately forwarded to this small operator to the amount of $1,850. Since this dispute all logs sold to B.C. Forest Products at Cowichan Lake are subject to Government scale.

The Minister of Forests is still continuing to allow B.C. Forest Products to scale crown (publicly-owned) timber cut in their Forest Management Licence. If the true stumpage and royalties are not collected it means heavier taxation on the public.

In regard to small market operators not being employed in the B.C. Forest Products Licence, Mr. Snowsall is also correct. I'm one of the operators.

According to the three-party agreement between the minister and B.C. Forest Products and 30 per cent small loggers, January 1, 1956, was the date set by which we were to log in this licence.

The Minister is continuing to allow B.C. Forest Products to log on the Crown timber without including us market loggers. Mr. Bruch, MLA in this area for Social Credit, is continuing to keep this quiet from the public.

Don't forget the Sloan Commission which was handling the matter. Yes, Mr. Bennett, you call an early election asking us small loggers to vote on evidence we have not even seen. Both the people of B.C. and the small logger will never know the truth until three things are released: The RCMP report on Sommers, the Sloan Commission report and the Sommers-Sturdy case.

It's not those smooth highway Social Credit is building, it's those bridges they're burning up behind them. This is the first time a Provincial Government has asked the people to vote guilty or not guilty.

J. R. GILLESPIE.
Small Logger.

Cassiar Road

In this election so far no Liberal or CCF candidate has mentioned the sordid Cassiar Road contract "scandal." From all the evidence brought forward during the legislative committee hearing, the public should demand an explanation from the Sommers. We should be told why nearly a million dollars was squandered on this road without calling for tenders.

From the evidence it would appear that our "famous" Mr. Sommers gave the contract to friends of his, his former campaign manager, from his own riding. Now, along comes the Hon. Mr. Chant in pretentious sanctimonious tones, at a meeting of the other night, and tells the public that the Sommers open all tenders in public. This, of course, is to create the impression that previous governments considered all tenders behind closed doors.

As a minister of the crown he must know that in 1929 a statute was passed that all tenders must be opened in public. This was carried out by all previous governments. If Mr. Chant has any evidence to the contrary he should produce same. Mr. Chant should also know what the word "sneer" is by now. Would Mr. Chant tell the public the number of contracts handed out by the Sommers in which no tenders were called?

"NO COMMENT."

Just Recognition

If the opposition parties in this B.C. campaign gave just recognition and approval to what the B.C. government, headed by W. A. C. Bennett, has done so splendidly—notably opening up the country by the PGE and new roads and power expansion, resulting in mining, industrial and farming development, and remember that the old age pension bonus in this province is the highest in Canada—then the thinking public would have confidence and would listen to what can be just criticism.

Questions

Will someone please tell me when is Socialism not Socialism?

The Social Credit party is making a thunderous noise about its first experiment in Socialism, namely the P.G.E. railway. A few weeks ago they gave a circus performance, and spent a lot of the taxpayers' money, taking two train loads of their friends on a trip to Prince George and back. Are we to believe it is NOT Socialism when the Social Credit party builds a railway but would be if it were done by the C.C.F. party?

Are we to believe that B.C. and Alberta owes its prosperity to the Social Credit party (whatever that is) while the rest of the continent is in a depression?

Did this party put the oil and gas and minerals in the earth, or did Mr. Bennett and Mr. Gagliardi do it all by themselves? If any two people have a swelled head these two have.

Can anyone tell me why Mr. Tisdale chose to change his name just before the last election? I'm just asking these questions for the reason that I'm wondering why?

All Out of Step But . . .

So everybody is out of step except the Premier and his puppets on the Sommers matter.

Bennett can trail all the red herring excuses, as he did at the Royal Theatre here, but to the thoughtful voter it all sounds like the wailings of a man cornered.

He still hasn't answered the question asked: "Why didn't the Premier do his duty?"

No chain is any stronger than its weakest link. Bennett's efforts to stifle the Sommers matter will haunt him as long as he lives, he has denied the voters their right to know. He has proven himself a dictator as was predicted.

Noel Murphy the president of the B.C. Sommers stated Aug. 13 "Let us work in this election so that we will be our own opposition," they want the power to wipe out our parliamentary opposition. Their conduct in the legislature has made that quite evident.

A Bit Confused

In the Sept. 8 issue of your valuable paper you have an article on page two titled "What's Your Opinion?" which gives the pictures of six young people and their response to that question, as they contemplate voting for the first time.

Some of them apparently expect to reach a decision by what they read in the press, but all of them indicate a desire to make their vote count for what is right.

I am writing from long years of experience, well over 50 years, and whereas I should be well qualified to judge just what party to vote for, I have felt somewhat confused, sufficiently almost to write across my ballot, "I wouldn't vote for any of you," for each party claims to know the answer to all our problems.

Ten years' experience in B.C. has not clarified my views politically, and writing as a supporter of this present Social Credit party, I am astounded that the Sommers-Sturdy controversy was not settled within a few days of its origin.

Again, this announcement of paying the first $1,000 of the assessment of the home owner takes on the nature of a handout or bribe, with not even the justification of it being equitable to voters generally, such a large percentage being renters who will receive nothing.

With a sales tax of 5 per cent producing for the year 1954 well over $55 millions, would that not have provided a more equitable type of relief, which applies to all citizens, as well as adding a boost to visitors' purchases?

As I am writing this chiefly in response to that "What's Your Opinion?" item for the benefit of the younger element, one thing I would suggest that you should avoid, that is: Never become so biased that you can believe everything your party says or does is right and anything said or done by all other parties is wrong.

Their Precious Vote

SEE her there—that independent, emancipated woman of 1956. Think of all the rights she has. Think of all the people who fought so she could have those rights. Think, too, of those who fight so she can keep those rights and hand them down intact to the next generation.

In years gone by, people fought so she could have an education equal to her brother's. They fought—how bitterly they fought—so she could have the vote.

And listen to her now. Listen and weep. Because she's taken the rights for granted, and never stopped to think that rights and responsibilities go hand in hand.

"I'm going to vote," she says. "I never have been interested in politics. I couldn't even tell you who the candidates in this district are."

"I'm going to vote for him," she says. "He's got such a lovely face. It's his eyes, I guess. Every morning I see his face on the telephone pole when I'm waiting for the bus. And he seems to be looking right at me in such a wonderful kind of way. He sure has sex appeal!"

"Well, I'm going to vote for him," she says. "He's always smiling in his pictures. And I do like a man who smiles, don't you? He puts that smile on just for the voters? I don't believe ya. I think he's just a sweet, smiling guy all the way through."

"I'm going to vote for him," she says. "His folks used to live right next door to my folks in my home town. And his mother had the sweetest recipe for pickles..."

"I'm not going to vote for him," she says. "His boy's in the same grade as my boy. And my boy, he says his boy's just so stuck up that no-one likes him. So I'm not voting for his Dad. That'll teach him."

"I'm going to vote for him," she says. "He's such a nice young chap. A gentleman. Though nowadays, of course, one hesitates to use that word. But I knew his mother years ago. She had a wonderful flower bed of anemones, I remember."

"I'm going to vote for him," she says. "He came round the other day and said he was so sorry to hear that my little dog had been run over."

"I'm going to vote for him," she says. "I think his wife's the sweetest thing. Did you see the picture of her wearing the cutest little hat?"

Which is pretty poisonous, I guess. But the reasons that many people—men AND women—have for voting fill me with alarm.

Such people would rather read about a juicy, sexy murder or a gory car-crash than try to understand the platform of the various parties. They'd rather watch a television show than turn out for an all-candidate political meeting.

That's why I so admire the many people who, in various ways, are trying to create an informed, intelligent electorate.

Everybody Has a Story

ST. IVES, Cornwall—There's a story in everybody. That stranger you share a table with in a restaurant, or meet at a party or do a train trip with you may seem at first sight to be insignificant and not the sort you think would be interesting to talk to.

At your first stabs at conversation you may have little to say and you are prepared to write them off as far as an interesting chat is concerned. But I have found that if one is prepared to take the trouble of persevering there is a story to be found in everybody.

Take, for instance, the girl coming down here to St. Ives in the train. I was standing in the corridor watching the countryside slip by when she came out of her compartment and took up a place near me.

She asked whether it was necessary to change trains to get to St. Ives and on learning that it was her first visit there I explained the routine of changing at the little town of St. Erth. She was a slip of a girl, barely out of her teens, and it didn't strike me that talking to her would be particularly diverting.

However, she volunteered the information that this was her second holiday this summer. She was just back from Italy. I asked her about places there that I had been through during the war and she told me how Anzio, Cassino and Ortona looked today and how she had visited the war cemeteries. It occurred to me that her father might have served and died there, but she said: "Oh, no, Daddy didn't die there..."

Reyburn

And then the story came out. Her father was supposed to go to fight in the Middle East but he had managed to get out of that, for which her mother and the rest of the family were very thankful. Then a posting to the North African fighting had been sidetracked.

When a chance to serve in the Caribbean came along it was jumped at. Here was a nice soft posting and father would come home at the end of the war fit and well.

Within a week of his getting there he came down with a tropical disease and was dead before a month was out.

Or take the fellow sitting next to me in the train. He seemed a callow young man, laboriously trying to wade through a pocket edition of Hemingway's Farewell to Arms which somebody in his office told him was "quite good." Why was he going to St. Ives?

The strongroom door of a bank there had jammed. He was a trouble-shooter for Britain's biggest manufacturer of safes, strongrooms, locks and combinations. When a strongroom door jammed (fitting to a twentieth of an inch, a piece of paper could cause it) or somebody tried to blow the lock off a safe, he went along to put things right.

I found him fascinating to talk to and for an hour or so I learned how strongroom doors are constructed so as to make it tough for burglars, the type of explosive used in blowing out locks, the remote control system of locking safes from a distance, how to make a skeleton key, how safe combinations can be broken down.

At the end I asked him: "Do you like working for this outfit?"

"No," he said. "Security, security—worse than working in an atom plant. None of us are allowed to say a word..."

LIBERALS CONTEST 34 OF 36 SEATS IN Nfld. Election
ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Premier Joseph Smallwood announced Saturday the Liberals will contest three of the five St. John's seats in the Oct. 2 Newfoundland general election.

Malcolm Hollett, leader of the Progressive Conservative opposition, will not be opposed in St. John's West. Neither will Derek Bowring in St. John's North.

The Liberals will be contesting 34 of Newfoundland's 36 seats. Mr. Smallwood said the decision not to contest two St. John's seats had been made because he was "deeply afraid" of eliminating the opposition.

During the weekend Mr. Hollett named two new candidates, bringing his party's list to 25.

'Healthy Attitude of Mind' Noted in Gardening Fraternity

I think the keynote of all the flower shows this year has been friendliness.

Never have so many gardeners shown so much interest in the shows. Probably the superlative summer produced such satisfying results that we have felt elated.

One of our well-known public figures remarked that he liked to think of the many individual gardeners represented by the exhibits.

"All these good people," he philosophized, "working in their gardens with plants, must be good influences in their communities. While they spend hours in their gardens producing these fine results, the country surely will benefit from it."

HEART WARMING
The speaker I knew to be extensively travelled into countries upset with postwar problems, and his philosophy regarding our own Canadians was heart warming.

While this may not be a gardening item in the true sense of the words, these thoughts came to me during the brief intervals of quiet at the recent Victoria Horticultural Society flower and vegetable show, and they may be worth passing on.

It is indeed true that the company of other gardeners is inspiring, the work is in itself fundamental, and while our minds are occupied with thoughts of soil, plants and in 1732.

weather there is little room for pettiness and strife.

It is the responsibility of each one of us to see that the young people of today are encouraged in this most fundamental of hobbies. Thus we ensure the future of horticulture in Canada, and what is more, we ensure a healthy attitude of mind.

Bulganin Again Rejects Ike's 'Open Sky' Proposal

MOSCOW (UP)—Premier made public by the Soviet government, said the premier believes it should be possible to reach at least a limited agreement on disarmament, starting with a ban on nuclear tests.

Nikolai A. Bulganin proposed new efforts to break the East-West disarmament deadlock in his letter to President Eisenhower last week, it was disclosed Sunday. But he again rejected the "open sky" inspection plan, which he said Russia could not view "with-out fear."

SOCIAL CREDIT GOVERNMENT IS DOING FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

✓ HOMEOWNERS' TAX ASSISTANCE—Social Credit will provide relief for the homeowners. Next year and in the years to follow, residents of British Columbia who own their homes will get a basic exemption on their real estate taxes much as wage earners now get a basic exemption on their income tax. Every person who owns his house will not have to pay taxes on the first unit of assessment. The tax reduction is estimated at $28 per home throughout the Province. Municipalities that normally collect the taxes will not suffer. They will be reimbursed by the Provincial Government. The $3,000 home will receive the same exemption as the $30,000 home.

✓ THE HIGHWAY PROGRAMME—Social Credit is undertaking a highway-construction programme that dwarfs the efforts of former governments. Everywhere in B.C. new highways have been built or are under construction. Contractors are now working on 400 miles of new main roads, and hundreds of miles of secondary roads are being rebuilt and improved by day labour. This year $68 million has been allocated for highway construction.

✓ RECREATION—Social Credit has created a whole new concept in the field of recreation, and plans for further co-ordinating and extending this programme are being studied. New park sites have been established and existing sites have been developed to provide picnic and camping places in all populated sections of British Columbia. New highways have provided access to these sites as well as to favorite hunting and fishing locations. Conservation and propagation of wild life is being developed by the Game Branch. For those who prefer less vigorous recreation, community programmes have been created and trained regional counsellors appointed. Recreational subjects cover everything from golf to millinery and from steam engineering to soil management.

✓ HOSPITAL INSURANCE—Social Credit has eliminated the arbitrary and unfair hospital insurance premium plan, replacing it with a sales tax plan that establishes hospital protection on the basis of ability to pay. The individual in the low income bracket does not pay as much as his wealthier neighbour. And for the first time, industry is now making an important contribution to the cost of maintaining and operating our hospitals.

✓ THE TOLL BRIDGE PROGRAMME—Social Credit is now building six major bridges that are badly needed and were promised for years by other governments. Cost of these bridges, totaling $32 million, will be shared by those who use them and by the Highways Department. At present under construction are the Marpole Bridge and the Second Narrows Bridge in the Greater Vancouver area; the Agassiz-Rosedale Bridge; the Kelowna-Westbank Bridge; and the West Arm Bridge at Nelson.

✓ AID TO MUNICIPALITIES—Social Credit in the past four years has increased its financial contributions, direct and indirect, to municipalities of British Columbia by more than 40%. This aid in 1952 amounted to $28 million—in 1956 to $43 million. The burden of education costs have been lifted from the municipalities by increasing government contributions from $8,100,000 in 1952-53 to $23,500,000 in 1956-57. Municipalities are also protected from increasing school costs in future years by the introduction of a formula that increases government payments as costs go up.

✓ SOCIAL WELFARE—Social Credit has established new standards for Canada in its care of the aged, the needy and the handicapped. No other province approaches British Columbia in its humanitarian treatment of those who need help. Old age pensioners receive a cost of living bonus of $20 a month. Social Assistance Allowances, increased twice in the past four years, are now 25 percent higher than they were in 1952. Disabled persons receive a $20 monthly bonus in addition to the regular allowance. Last year British Columbia spent $15.33 per capita on Social Welfare compared to $9.12 for C.C.F. governed Saskatchewan and $5.55 in Manitoba where a Liberal government is in power.

✓ PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN RAILWAY—Social Credit has revitalized the P.G.E. Trains are now bringing freight and passengers in and out of North Vancouver and by the end of 1957 the Peace River towns of Fort St. John and Dawson Creek will have direct connection with the coast. The line has been completely rebuilt, new rolling stock has been purchased, and finally it is showing a regular and steadily increasing operating profit.

Vote for the Government that gets things DONE!

While W. J. Carr, Social candidate for Alberni riding, was crossing Barkley Sound in a speedboat, he noticed the basking shark close by. He asked the boat operator to pull alongside, leaned out with a handy safety pin and attached a "Vote Carr" leaflet to a fin.

Kahloke Resumes
Nanaimo Service

Nanaimo from Vancouver resumed at noon Sunday when temporary repairs were made to the ferry slip at Horseshoe Bay.

The ferry Kahloke hit the slip shortly after noon, Friday, in heavy fog, smashing the guide piles and ripping up a section of the ramp.

Estimate of slip damage has not yet been made, but damage to the Kahloke was not sufficient to put her out of commission.

After the slip smash, Kahloke was in collision with the CPR's Princess of Nanaimo in Vancouver harbor fog. Kahloke again escaped without serious damage, but Princess of Nanaimo was put out of commission.

500 School Trustees At Cranbrook Parley

CRANBROOK (CP)—Five hundred delegates arrived here today for the 52nd annual convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association.

They lost no time in getting down to business at the first convention of the province-wide organization in this East Kootenay centre.

In addition to trustee delegates from more than 80 school boards in B.C. there is also heavy representation from the provincial department of education, B.C. Teachers' Federation, B.C. Parent-Teacher Federation, Canadian School Trustees' Association, and Alberta and Washington trustees organizations.

Cranbrook Chamber of Commerce is taking an active part in the general direction of entertainment and transportation, with registration under direction of the Cranbrook school board.

East Kootenay branch of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association is assisting in all arrangements.

The trustee delegates have 42 printed resolutions to handle, involving school finance and administration, a proposed provincial teacher salary scale and merit rating for teachers.

Education Minister Ray Wiliston, who at the last moment was unable to attend, was represented by his deputy, Dr. Harold Campbell.

Particular interest attaches to the presence at the convention of University of British Columbia president Dr. Norman A. Mackenzie and Dean N. V. Searle, in view of the new college of education at UBC and the effect it will have on the teaching profession in the province.

BACKGROUND HISTORY OF ITALIAN CAMPAIGN

Fear of Garrison Duty for Canadian Troops Prompted Request by Prime Minister King

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government, toward the close of the Second World War, had fears that Canadian soldiers then serving in the Italian campaign might be transferred to newly-liberated Greece as garrison troops.

The Canadian Army's official history of the Italian campaign, newly-liberated Greece was in a state of quasi-revolution with various factions struggling for power and British garrison troops trying to maintain order.

During October, 1944, the British government had asked Canada whether 1st Canadian Corps might be used to garrison Austria, Greece or the Dodecanese Islands, when hostilities finished, or as internal security troops in the Middle East. The tour would last until shipping became available for their repatriation.

The cabinet replied during November, expressly forbidding such use for Canadians, except for possibly a short period in Austria or northeast Italy.

But then it heard that the corps was to be withdrawn from the line during January-February, 1945, and undergo amphibious training. The impression existed that it might be used in operations against the Dalmatian coast.

When Ottawa learned of the amphibious training program, with its Dalmatian possibilities, Defence Minister McNaughton immediately cabled Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, then the corps commander in Italy, orders that Canadian troops were not to be employed outside Italy without the concurrence of the Canadian government.

Prime Minister King at the same time advised Prime Minister Churchill of Gen. Foulkes' orders. "This formal step is necessary," he said, "since I have given public assurance that Canadian troops will not serve in Greece without the consent of the Canadian government."

Mr. King, answering a Commons question Dec. 6, 1944, had said no Canadian troops were then stationed in Greece and "this government has no wish to interfere in the internal affairs of liberated countries where they can possibly be avoided."

Newly-liberated Greece was in a state of quasi-revolution with various factions struggling for power and British garrison troops trying to maintain order.

Churchill cabled Mr. King his surprise and grief at the suggestion that "your might find it necessary to issue a public statement that Canadian troops will not be used in Greece."

"Such a statement," he said, "could only increase our difficulties and postpone a settlement of the present troubles in that country."

Mr. King reiterated in reply that he had given public assurance that Canadian forces should not be sent to Greece without Canadian government consent.

"That is a very different matter which is open to no objection and does not increase your difficulties," he said.

Comments the history: "It was a significant development, marking as it did the first occasion on which the government of Canada insisted upon its right to consider and sanction a plan of campaign in which Canadian troops were to be employed."

"The year came to an end with an understanding having been reached that 'without prejudice to their early repatriation' Canadians in the Mediterranean might be used for occupation duties, but not outside Austria or northeast Italy."

The understanding was never implemented, however, since persistent prodding in London by Lt.-Gen. P. J. Montague, chief of staff at Canadian military headquarters there, finally won consent for the shift of 1st Corps to northwest Europe and the reunion of the Canadian Army.

MONTY SNUBBED McNAUGHTON

OTTAWA—General Montgomery in 1943 refused Canada's army commander permission to visit Canadian troops in Sicily, then fighting their first battle against the Germans. The army's history of the campaign, published Saturday, says "Monty" turned down Gen. McNaughton's request because of a lack of transport.

McNaughton complained, and a month later was invited by Gen. Alexander, Montgomery's superior, to visit his troops.

Elsewhere in the official history of the Canadian participation in the Italian campaign, Lt.-Col. G. W. L. Nicholson writes that the Canadian troops "learned the hard way" that failure to employ sound battle tactics and properly trained troops resulted in very high casualties.

Nicholson said that during the battle for Ortona in December, 1943, Canadian units received reinforcements "some of which had not received advanced training and had much to learn."

This was borne out a month later in the Ortona Salient where Canadian troops, unpractised in battle, were opposed by a battalion of battle-hardened veterans of skilled and tenacious German troops. High Canadian casualties resulted.

Nicholson recounts that high Canadian casualties were suffered in the battle for Agira in July, 1943, when Canadian infantry waited too long to attack after an artillery barrage and were mowed down in the open by well-entrenched German troops.

In October 1943, more Canadian troops were needlessly slaughtered in the battle at Colle D'Anchise where infantry attacked too soon without support of armor and were overrun by German tanks supported by infantry, Nicholson said.

The RCR's suffered a "ghastly failure" in the battle of the Lamone River in Dec., 1944. The regiment went across the river without armor and anti-tank guns and were mowed down by German self-propelled guns, tanks and machine-gun fire. Changes in the brigade commanders were made after the battle.

T-Men Take Cup Opener

Allan Haunts Old Mates; Petes Rally Too Late

Nanaimo 15, Peterborough 13

TORONTO (CP)—Young Bobby Allan came back to haunt his old teammates here Sunday and lead Nanaimo Timbermen to a 15-13 victory over Peterborough Trailermen in the first game of the best-of-seven Mann-Cup Canadian lacrosse championship.

Second game will be played Wednesday.

Allan shot two goals in the first period as Nanaimo rolled to a 3-0 lead. He picked up two more in the second to help put Timbermen up 7-4 at half time.

Peterborough boxed in the 21-year-old forward a Trailer-man himself until this year—holding him to one goal and the score was 13-7 for Nanaimo. Those five were all he could manage—along with one assist—as Peterborough struck back in the final period with a drive that almost pulled the game out of the fire. The desperate Trailermen, down 14-7, scored six straight goals before Don Ashbee put the game on ice with a goal two seconds from the final whistle.

A pro-Peterborough crowd of 2,500 watched the east-west playoff in Maple Leaf Gardens. Chasing Allan for scoring honors on the Timbermen was Don Sherry with four goals. The other Nanaimo scorers were Derry Davies and Ashbee with two, Dave Patterson and Arnie Dugan.

Braves Slip, Brooks Lead

Dodgers Half Game on Top; Yanks Need But One Victory

By The Associated Press

Just two weeks ago, Brooklyn Dodgers appeared finished.

They had dropped a double header to New York Giants, their hitters were floundering and their pitchers were unsteady. They were three and one-half games behind the first place Milwaukee Braves.

Today, the Brooks top the tight National League race. They have a working margin of a half game over the Braves, are one game up in the vital lost column, and play most of their remaining games in the friendly confines of Ebbets Field.

While the Braves cannot be accused of wilting under pressure, there are these facts to be considered:

1. They have lost eight of their last 13 games.

2. In their last 13 games, their pitchers have turned in only two complete games. Bob Buhl has been knocked out four times in a row and Lew Burdette twice.

3. The Braves have been snapping at the umpires, a sure sign of their high tension.

Milwaukee's game with New York Giants was postponed because of rain Sunday while Brooklyn was defeating Cincinnati Redlegs 3-2. The Redlegs now are three games out with

While the Brooks were struggling, New York Yankees were frustrated in their effort to wrap up the American League pennant when they could do no better than a split with Cleveland. The Yanks won the opener 10-3 to assure themselves of no worse than a tie, but dropped the nightcap 4-3.

Both the Indians and Boston Red Sox, who dropped a pair to the Detroit Tigers, 5-4 and 6-4, were eliminated. Chicago White Sox, who took two from the

PAINTER, McCOLL KEEP GOLF BUTTONS

Vic Painter and Bill McColl of Royal Colwood Golf Club successfully defended the city golf buttons for the third time at Uplands Golf Club Sunday.

The Colwood duo scored a tight, 2 and 1, victory over Alan Reside and Gordon Pellow of Uplands. Three up at the fifth, Painter and McColl surrendered that lead to be all square at the 14th. Birdies on 16th and 17th provided the winning margin. Winners had a best ball of 67.

Brodie's, Scottish Go on Goal Spree

SUNDAY

Brodie's 7, Punjab 0; Scottish 7, Tillicums 1

SATURDAY

Butlers 5, Heaneys 4

Brodie's Bakery and Canadian Scottish opened up their Victoria and District Football Association schedule impressively Sunday by scoring lopsided victories.

Brodie's bumped Punjab United, 7-0, at Beacon Hill Park, while Scottish walloped Tillicums 7-1 at Topaz Avenue Park.

In Saturday's league opener, Butler Brothers edged Heaneys 5-4 at Athletic Park.

Joe Hillhouse and Ken Jones led Brodie's to their win, scoring two goals apiece. Jimmy McMillan, Willie McMillan and White each added singletons. Score at half-time was 2-0.

Scottish held a 3-1 lead over Tillicums at the intermission mark of their game. Massey with four goals, Bob Massey with two and Ed Young with one scored for the winners. Lone Tillicum score came when

The Saturday game was more of a cliffhanger, with Butlers running up a 3-1 lead early in the second half and then hanging on while Heaneys came back with three straight goals. Butlers led 4-1 at half-time.

Dick Nellist led the winners with three goals, while Whitey Wakelyn and George Robbins scored the others. For Heaneys, Ray Bunyon with two, Darrel Burley and Stan Wiseman rapped in markers.

Saturday's scheduled game between George Hotel and Victoria West at Topaz Avenue Park was postponed.

MUTUEL UP, GOOD CROWD

Race Opening 'Hit' for Most

There was a little bit of everything, for everyone, at Sandown Park Saturday as the Sport of Kings returned for a two-week stay.

The weather was fine, the races were close, the longest pickers had reason to smile and, best of all—from a management viewpoint—the mutual handle was up, if only slightly.

All of which appears to augur well for a successful meeting at the suburban track near Sidney.

A healthy, but not capacity crowd, of approximately 3,500, was on hand, and wagered $38,407, an increase of $1,047 over last year when the Colwood Park Association lost heavily on the first return to racing here in seven seasons.

The track was lightning fast, as witnessed by the fact that three times the six-furlong mark of 1:13.2 established last year by Miss Colleen, was broken; also, going by the boards was the mile and three-eighths standard.

Form had a brief moment in the first race when Big Al, a consistent four-year-old bay gelding, won by half a length from Ricky J, fittingly the second choice.

But the trend was quickly forgotten in the second, at six furlongs, as Netrejan, a 141 shot, clipped a tenth of a second off the six-furlong track standard of last year to reward her backers with a straight payoff of $31.20, $14.20 and $4.60.

Beau Sierra, a four-year-old brown colt, took the inaugural handicap over the three-quarter mile route with a driving finish to edge Tul-Lyke, co-favorite in the betting, by a head. Arden Drive set the pace but gave way in the stretch to finish third.

Beau Sierra's time of 1:12.4 was also under the previous track record, but in the meantime, both Speedy Gal (and she was that) in the third, and Miss Colleen, in the sixth, had also lowered the mark, with Miss Colleen being repeat owner of the present standard, 1:12.2.

Jimmy Rides a Pair. A sound estimate of the price of a 9-1 outsider in the eighth day came in the fifth at a mile and three-eighths, when Netrejan's Pride, the five-year-old gelding won a stretch duel with Vicky Jo and Wheatlander to return $23.30, $8.40 and $3.70, after Wheatlander had set the pace most of the route. Netrejan's Pride set a new track mark of 2:21.24.

Jimmy Brownfield was the only jockey to get two winners. He was up on Miss Colleen, and repeated on Gaines.

Canadian Sportsman Buys British Horse

LONDON (CP)—Hindu Wand, a tough, consistent handicapper, is the latest acquisition in a Canadian experiment designed to show that mature British horses can "migrate" successfully to North America.

Hindu Wand, a four-year-old colt by Hindostan out of Wandsworth, formerly owned by W. H. Harrison, has been purchased by sportsman Max Bell of Calgary and will be flown to the United States next week. It will be trained for the San Juan Capistrano Handicap, to be run next February at Santa Anita.

Usually, North American owners buy British horses at a fairly tender age. Last year, as an experiment, Bell bought the five-year-old colt, Prefect, and shipped it to the U.S.

LIONS BEAT FOG RAP, MEET BOMBERS TONIGHT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Lions aren't taking any chances with Vancouver's varied climate.

Lions' president Don Mackenzie disclosed that the team is insured with Lloyd's of London against cancellation of a game because of fog.

But the weatherman has promised a fog-free evening for tonight's WIFU game with Winnipeg, following heavy fog conditions which prevailed in Vancouver during the weekend.

FANNING TAKES TITLE

Dave's Luck Again No Good

Victoria's Dave Cooper, who has had tough luck all season in the weekly stock car races at Western Speedway, saw his streak of misfortune extended to the big cars Saturday night as he was forced out of the 100-lap big-car championship race with only 11 laps remaining.

Cooper had led the race for 66 laps and held a two-lap lead over his nearest competitor, Seattle's Del Fanning, when the fuel line on his car broke and he was knocked out of the running.

Fanning, driving his second car of the evening, hung on to win the feature event before 2,500 unhappy fans.

Ed Kane, of Portland, who had been lapped four times by Cooper before the Victoria wheel-jockey was forced to quit, came in second, while Al Coutts, of Victoria, previously lapped seven times by Cooper, grabbed third-place money.

The big car enthusiasts, eight of them Americans, were racing for a $1,287 pot of gold in the biggest auto race ever staged on Vancouver Island.

The evening of racing was almost entirely free of accidents, although the two favored cars for the 100-lap main were knocked out by mechanical trouble in earlier heats.

Fanning's favored Baghdad special and Vic Scow's D. O. Hall were both put out of commission early. Fanning subsequently switched to another machine for his victory.

Another pre-race favorite, Don Ellis, of Seattle, was leading the main event up until the 22nd lap, when his car threw a wheel.

Ellis won the trophy dash earlier, while Bill Heller won the all-Victoria fast heat with Corky Thomas finishing second and Wilbur Clark third.

T-MEN TAKE OPENER

Jim Heffernan led Peterborough with three goals as nearly the entire Trailermen line-up got in on the scoring.

Donny Curtis and Larry Mason each picked up two with Jim Jay, Carl Broux, Max Woolley, Bob Thorpe and Ross Powless.

Ike Hildebrand, injured in last Tuesday's playoff game with Hamilton, did not dress but did his coaching from the bench.

"We've had a lot of bad early periods this year," Hildebrand said later. "I don't know why it is, unless the boys were tense when they loosened up. All I can do is keep them that way."

Nanaimo went ahead from 1:44 of the first period, scoring three goals in less than three minutes through a ragged Peterborough defence.

It was 5:0 in the second before Woolley put a slow, deliberate shot behind Nanaimo's Fred Fulla from the right-hand face-off zone.

The Lions' roar has been reduced to a growl, at least temporarily.

The British Columbia Lions were tamed in the den of the Eskimos, as Edmonton whipped them 34-8 before a record Clarke Stadium crowd of 21,737 fans Saturday night in one of two Western Interprovincial Football Union games.

In the other, Calgary's last-place Stampeders rebounded from last weekend's 45-15 clashing by the Lions, and put the spur to Winnipeg Blue Bombers 18-6 on a 61-yard touchdown run by Joe Paglioli, before 12,789 fans at Mewata Stadium.

In the Big Four, a steady performance mixed with a dash of the unexpected proved just the recipe Ottawa Rough Riders needed Saturday to boil a 20-9 victory out of Montreal Alouettes. It was the first capital triumph in four meetings with the league leaders.

ESKIMOS START FAST

Eskimos ran up a 13-0 lead in the first quarter, scoring touchdowns on each of the first two times they got possession and it was obvious they would go on to their 19th straight home victory.

The Grey Cup champions have not lost at home since Sept. 27, 1954 and Saturday night's win gave them a 6-1 record for this season. They have a six-point edge in the standings over the jammed second spot where Winnipeg, B.C. and Saskatchewan Roughriders are tied. Stampeders pulled within two points of second place.

A loosening of the middle ring appeared certain tonight however as Bombers moved into Vancouver to meet the Lions and Stampeders went to Regina to meet the rested Riders. Only two draws could prevent a shuffling of the three-way tie.

Fullback Earl Lindley scored two touchdowns for Eskimos, in the first quarter on a 23-yard forward pass from Parker and in the second on a long lateral from halfback Rolfe Miles.

Fullback Normie (China) Clapper Kwong smashed around end for nine yards for another first-quarter touchdown and end Bill Walker pulled in a goal-line forward from Canadian quarter Don Getty for another late in the fourth quarter.

DEAN KICKS TWO
Tackle Bob Dean kicked two converts and got a field goal in each of the third and fourth quarters and Parker punted 40 yards for two second-quarter singles.

Ed Vereb, ex-Maryland half, scored the B.C. touchdown on a two-yard plunge in the second quarter. Fullback Al Pollard converted it and got a single on a 70-yard kickoff at the opening of the second half.

Three key interceptions, two by Miles and one by Ted Tully, crippled the B.C. attack.

GIVES BOMBERS LEAD
End Tom Miher, traded to Bombers earlier this year by Stampeders for tackle Dick Huffman, kicked field goals in the first and third quarters to give Bombers a 3-0 lead and then a 6-3 lead on a 34-yard touchdown run.

Klosterman punted a 35-yard forward 10 Clark scored for the first touchdown in the third quarter, then sent Paglioli winging in the fourth on a pitchout.

Klosterman kicked a second-quarter field goal and converted Paglioli's touchdown to complete the scoring.

In the ORFU Saturday, Sarnia defeated Rochester 27-21 and Kitchener-Waterloo topped London 36-20.

Marlene Guns For U.S. Title

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (BUP)—Chunky, little Marlene Stewart, aiming for her seventh-straight tournament victory, today hoped to succeed where fellow Canadian Jerry Magee failed last week and win the coveted U.S. Amateur golf championship.

The 22-year-old Fonthill, Ont., swinger was rated one of the top five contenders in the field of 105 starters who teed off today at the Meridian Hills Country Club. She met Mrs. Phebe Brewster, New Haven, Conn., in her first round match.

Marlene, whose wins this year include the North and South, the U.S. National College Amateur, the Ontario Women's Open and the Canadian Open and Closed, hoped to become the first Canadian ever to win the women's blue-ribbon event of amateur golf. Just last week her long time friend, Magee of Toronto, reached the semifinals of the U.S. men's amateur at Lake Forest, Ill., before he was eliminated by Charlie Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich.

Defending champion Pat Lesser of Seattle, Wash., singled out Marlene and three others she figured would be her toughest rivals in the week-long, match play tourney. Miss Lesser, who has won virtually every major American links crown, was defeated by Miss Stewart on the 37th hole as Marlene captured her third straight Canadian Open crown last month at Winnipeg. Miss Lesser met Sally Carroll, Wheeling, W.Va., in one of the 11 first round matches today.

In addition to Marlene, Miss Lesser said Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, 19-year-old British and French champion from St. Clair, Mich., shooting for a "grand slam" here; Ann Quast, Everett, Wash., and Barbara McIntire, Toledo, O., low amateur in the U.S. Women's Open, would provide the stiffest competition.

"I think those four have shown the best golf so far this year, but certainly there are a number of others just as capable," said Miss Lesser.

To a young man about to be married, life insurance becomes a new and vastly important subject. So he should know something about insurance agents and the product they sell.

For example, he should know that selling is only part of an agent's job. Mainly he's a thoroughly trained advisor on the problems that most profoundly affect our lives. His mission is to help families achieve security—both now and later.

So the most important part of an agent's work comes after he makes the sale. Then it becomes his constant duty to service and develop the young family's program of protection.

Any New York Life agent will tell you that this is the most rewarding part of his work, too. It's seeing a home saved for a young widow and her children... seeing a man, possibly you someday, happily retired with an income for life.

Something else any young man certainly should know... he should know his New York Life agent.

MAYBE PETER DECIDED IT WAS TIME TO SLEEP

DORTMUND, Germany (AP)—Charles Humez of France, European middleweight champion, scored a knockout win Sunday night while opponent Peter Mueller of Germany was nowhere in sight.

Referee Albert Nuss stepped in the third round to separate the fighters after warning the German several times for hitting after the break. Mueller fell down slowly and rolled out of the ring.

With no more Mueller in sight, Nuss started counting and declared Humez the winner by a knockout in the non-title fight, scheduled for 10 rounds.

The crowd of 10,000 went wild protesting the finish and it took five minutes to restore order.

Harvie Repeats Golf Win

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — Harvie Ward Jr., 24, waited for Chuck Kocsis' aging legs to falter, and then poured on the pressure Saturday to win his second straight United States Amateur Golf Championship, 5 and 4—the first repeat winner in 21 years.

Ward of San Francisco, smothered the 43-year-old former pro from Royal Oak, Mich., with a dazzling four-hole winning streak midway of the afternoon round.

Kocsis took a one-hole lead over the champion at the end of the morning round and went 2-up by winning the first hole after the luncheon break.

But there his prosperity came to a quick end as his legs suddenly began to weaken and the old Michigan war horse, who played in his first U. S. Amateur 26 years ago, began to spray his shots over the course of the Knollwood Club. He didn't win a hole after that.

Ward rammed home a 12-foot birdie putt at the 21st and chipped to within two inches of the cup for another bird on the 480-yard 24th to square the match. Then he reeled off the next four holes in a row to move three holes in front.

WORLD'S NO. 1 AMATEUR. The Victory established Ward, 30-year-old son of a Tarboro, N.C., druggist, as the world's No. 1 amateur golfer. Winner of the British and Canadian titles in the past, he became the first golfer since Lawson Little in 1934-35 to put two of these championships back-to-back.

It was a magnificent but disheartening bid for Kocsis, one of 12 children of an immigrant Hungarian bee keeper and member of a famous golfing family.

Kocsis had eliminated Jerry Magee, a young Toronto auto salesman, in reaching the finals.

Ward, his 18-year-old hickory-shafted putter an instrument of torture for Kocsis, was three under par for the 32 holes played Saturday while Kocsis was two over. Par for the 6,790-yard Knollwood Club is 35-36.

For the entire tournament, Ward was 11 under par for 144 holes—a remarkable performance in match play golf.

Albions Down Alcos, Enter Cricket Final

Albions bounced Alcos by 48 runs Saturday at Beacon Hill Park to move solidly into the final of the Victoria and District Cricket Association—knockout competition.

Albions will now take on Five Cs this weekend in the series' final.

Saturday, Denny Hendra led the way for Albions, batting 35 runs and topping all bowlers by taking four Alcos wickets for only 15 runs.

W. Tate and R. Mainwaring batted 22 runs each for Albions while Boyd and Dorrin had 30 each to lead the losers. Wilkinson led the bowlers for Alcos with five wickets for 16 runs.

Junior Track Marks Tumble

VANCOUVER (CP) — Three Canadian and six British Columbia junior track and field records were broken Saturday in the British Columbia junior track and championships.

Three Vancouver athletes shattered Canadian marks.

Allen Andrews ran the juvenile 440-yard in 50.8, shaving four-tenths of a second off the previous record. Wendy Kelond, 16, set a national javelin mark with a throw of 110 feet, and Freyda Berman ran the midget class 60-yard dash in 7.4 seconds for the third Canadian record.

Nina Brown, 13, from Trail, B.C., set two provincial marks. Her records were 16 feet 1 1/4 inches in the broad jump and 83 feet 8 1/4 inches in the discus.

Other provincial records:
Junior girls 220-yard dash — Elaine Hines, Vancouver, Arctic Club, 27.6
Junior men's javelin — A. Clarence, Vancouver Olympic Club, 131 feet, two inches

Red Wings Win Exhibition Tilt
SAULT STE MARIE, Mich. (CP) — Right-winger Gordie Howe scored two unassisted goals in the third period Saturday night to lead Detroit Red Wings to a 4-3 victory over Edmonton Flyers, their Western Hockey League farm club.

It was the Wings' first exhibition game. The National Hockey League club meets Edmonton again here Wednesday.

Rookie Tom McCarthy of Toronto and Norm Ullman were the other Detroit marksmen. Murray Costello, Art Lea and John Hart scored for Edmonton.

Halecos on Top All Way Round

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Halecos, displaying superiority both in attack and on defence, defeated Winnipeg Germania 5-1 Saturday night to win the Dominion soccer championship in a sudden-death final before 3,000 fans.

Inside left Brian Philley scored Vancouver's first three goals and Halecos' other marksmen were centre forward Art Hughes and right winger Ed Bak.

Harry Jedig got Winnipeg's goal on a penalty shot in the closing minutes of the game. A step faster than the Winnipeggers in all departments, Halecos took command from the kick-off.

FIRST-MINUTE GOAL. Vancouver went down the field for the first attack of the game and Hughes had the first shot but missed the goal. Right winger Norman McLeod made a perfect pass, to Philley who made no mistake to put Vancouver's team ahead 1-0 in the first minute.

At 17 minutes Philley got his hat-trick on a beautiful pass from Gordon McLeod to score a good goal. Hughes scored the fourth for Halecos on a pass from Sid Gorie at 39 minutes on a shot that goalie Walter Norget muffed.

SCORE ON PENALTY. At 12 minutes of the second half Pears came out of his goal to cut the angle and was beaten by Richard Ritz for a sure goal, but right back Jack Cowan took the ball off the goal-line and cleared. Bak took a pass from Brian Philley to make it 5-0 for Halecos at 22 minutes.

'MISUNDERSTOOD KIDS'

Meyer Demands Equal Rights For SS, Hitler Squadron Vets

LONDON (CP)—A demand by former general Kurt Meyer that former members of Hitler's elite forces should have "equal rights" with other German soldiers gets ironical treatment in the British press.

Meyer, who commanded a Hitler Youth division against Canadian troops in Normandy and later was condemned for war crimes, was chief speaker at a gathering of the Waffen SS.

Meyer said the Waffen SS had done nothing wrong, had merely sought to save the world from Bolshevism.

Karl Robson, in a dispatch to The News Chronicle from Minden, Germany, where the rally was held, writes with tongue in cheek:

"Survivors of the Waffen SS—Hitler's elite corps of fighting troops—are just a bunch of misunderstood kids."

Robson adds that if the SS were, so innocent, it would be

18 Moslems Die in Riots; Book Blamed

NEW DELHI (AP)—India today counted 18 dead and more than 100 injured in two weeks of sporadic rioting over an American book which some Moslems claim defames the prophet Mohammed.

Latest reports from Jubbulpore, central India, said one person was killed and four injured there in new outbreaks of violence. The total arrested exceeds 1,000, including 600 in Jubbulpore.

The book is Religious Leaders, published in India by a Bombay firm. Because this firm is headed by a Hindu, Moslem agitators charge the book is a Hindu attack on their religion.

Skilled Civil Servants Deserting, Says Sinclair

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia is losing some of its most experienced and skilled civil servants because they have no confidence in the Social Credit government, Federal Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Saturday.

"Engineers have left the public works department; others have been lost from forestry, the power commission and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway," he said during a speech supporting North Vancouver Liberal candidates in the Sept. 19 provincial election.

"They couldn't stand amateur direction, insults and rebuffs. This exit of skilled advice is costly to B.C. Errors have proved very costly in the Social Credit era as a result of ministers not listening to senior civil servants."

Addressing 300 people in Port Alberni, he said: "Like the coalition government of some years back, these people have become arrogant and thoughtless of what the people might want."

Classing procedure in the House under the Social Credit government as more fitting for a vaudeville show than a democratic argument, Mr. Strachan said: "I once remonstrated with Mr. Bennett about his conduct in the House and he replied, 'Young man, that's the way a

IN SOMMERS' CASE

Allistone Identifies Accuser

VANCOUVER (CP) — Independent Ernest Allistone Saturday named a forestry engineer now living in Seattle as the man who, he claims, made allegations against Robert Sommers to Social Credit Party officials last August.

In a reply to league president Noel Murphy's challenge "to produce proof" of his claim, Mr. Allistone named Ben Mitchell as the original accuser of former lands and forests minister Sommers.

Mr. Allistone, a former Social Creditor, said earlier this week that Premier Bennett and Mr. Murphy knew about charges of corruption against Mr. Sommers three months before the allegations were made by Vancouver lawyer David Sturdy last December.

In an interview in Seattle, Mr. Mitchell backed up Mr. Allistone's disclosure.

"I sat face to face with Noel Murphy in his office and told him what I knew," said Mitchell, an independent logger and forestry engineer who resigned from a Vancouver firm in June 1959 and moved to Seattle.

Mr. Mitchell said he was blacklisted in the B.C. forestry industry because of his statements and was forced to go to the United States for a job.

Asked to comment on Mr. Allistone's statement Saturday, Mr. Murphy said he had been interviewed by Mr. Mitchell Wednesday, he had denied all of Mr. Allistone's statements.

"Now that he has identified the so-called accuser, I remember the man Mitchell coming to my office and making all kinds of wild statements about forest management licences," Mr. Murphy said.

"I have had thousands of cranks talk to me about the same subject."

Mr. Murphy said Mr. Mitchell would not put his statements in writing and did not make any charges against Mr. Sommers.

parliament should be run." "These Social Credit rubber stamps—and that's what Social Credit candidates are—rise up and say aye or nay at a nod of the head from the premier. I have seen them sit through a debate for hours saying nothing, either because they knew nothing or because they were too scared to speak without Bennett's permission."

Vote-Switching

VANCOUVER (CP) — A group of Vancouver trade union leaders Sunday urged voters "to take a practical commonsense step to ensure defeat of Social Credit candidates" by uniting in certain ridings behind either Liberal or CCF candidates.

In a statement the self-styled "informal committee" headed by Tom Alsbury, said:

"If CCF voters in certain ridings cast their ballots for Liberal candidates and if Liberal voters cast their votes for CCF candidates in other ridings, a sufficient number of Social Credit candidates can be brought down to ensure defeat of the government."

The statement was signed by Tom Alsbury, R. K. Gervin, Everett King, E. M. Lawson and Jack Ross.

They suggested CCFers vote Liberal in the Point Grey and Victoria ridings and that Liberals vote CCF in Vancouver Centre and Burrard.

Bennett Afraid

VANCOUVER (CP) — Progressive-Conservative leader Deane Finlayson charged Saturday that Premier Bennett had not acted on charges against former minister of lands Robert Sommers, because he feared what might be revealed.

"I charge that the sole reason that the premier has refused to do his duty in this matter is because he is afraid. He fears, yes, even knows, that an enquiry into the charges against Mr. Sommers would expose to the public the source of his huge campaign funds, for which he has bartered away privilege and public property."

STEAL NEW PENS

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — There were complaints aplenty about the old-fashioned nib pens in post offices but, says Johnstown Postmaster George McMillan, "no one ever stole them." He chained 10 new ball-point pens to writing desks last Monday. Every one of them had been stolen by Saturday.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

The very first thing my very first city editor drummed into my feeble brain was:
GET THE NAMES RIGHT.
So, night unto a quarter of century later, I managed to refer to Ken Anderson of Doman's Lumber as Ken Jackson.
I'll try to do better after the next quarter of a century.

Add to your collection of letters which never got read one from an advertising agency which arrived at our office today and commenced "This is not just another publicity release..."

I was complaining the other day because my eyes always seem to be tired. Tony Dickason had a ready explanation:
Too much no television.

One of the most fascinating things about nature is this true fact about the bald eagle.
The bald eagle has just as much hair as any other eagle.

Lullaby for the two-dollar better:
Every little bet I'm losing / wrong horses choosing / at San-down.

Ben Laughren has announced he's going to make another try at swimming the Strait. Too bad. I thought when he got his new job, he'd stick to his knitting.

If friends drop in this evening, and time hangs heavy on your hands, try this little parlor game:
Challenge your friends to name ALL the candidates in Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich, and Oak Bay.
You can make yourself a little money betting they won't get them all.

There are 13 in Victoria, four each in adjoining municipalities for a total of 25.
(How did I make out? Missed out of three, all in the city riding.)

Can we please have a closed season on politicians who paraphrase Churchill's "so few, so many" eulogy?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Hunters out on the first weekend of the new season proved fair game for RCMP and Provincial Game Branch officials in the Goldstream area over the weekend.

A three-man RCMP team from Colwood detachment nabbed 13 persons for motor-vehicle licence infractions in a highway check, while two Game Branch officials picked up another five for hunting violations.

Oak Bay Wanderers rugby team will hold a workout at Windsor Park Tuesday night at 7 p.m.

On Saturday night R. F. Neal, 4 Lotus, noticed a "hot rod" parked near his garage.

Sunday morning, when he went to pick up his own car, he found two rear wheels had been removed, one with a new tire.
Police believe youths in the hot rod were responsible.

Could it be that Victoria's underworld is planning a party? On an otherwise quiet weekend, these youths were reported to police:

W. Harrison, 2330 Quadra, said someone entered his home through an open window and stole a blue serge suit.

Jan Ross, 1509 Shasta Place, said a thief squeezed through a hinged door panel left open for his dog, and lifted a pink cotton dress.

In each case the clothing was the only loot taken.

City Council committees expected to meet this week are parks on Wednesday at 10 a.m., and finance on Thursday at 10 a.m. Public works committee meets Monday at the same time.

A tag day Saturday in Victoria and Oak Bay yielded $1,169. Mrs. F. T. Lee, treasurer of Royal Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary reported to day. Funds will be used for purchase of hospital equipment, furnishings and nurses' welfare services.

View Royal Community Association will meet in the community hall tonight at 8 to discuss a proposed drainage system in the district. Cost of the installation, $285,000, would be paid over a 20-year period by View Royal taxpayers.

A 20-year-old youth admitted in city police court today wearing a sports jacket which had been stolen by a younger member of his family from the Hudson's Bay Co.

Paul Schultz, 727 Front, was remanded by Wednesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall for sentence.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of stolen property under $50.

Reginald L. Foster, HMCS New Glasgow, was fined a total of $75 in city police court today, when he pleaded guilty to careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Magistrate H. C. Hall also ordered his driver's licence suspended.

The charges arose from an accident July 27 when Foster collided with the rear of another car on Esquimalt road near Springfield.

George Ready For Debate With Lydia

Victoria Social candidate Mrs. Lydia Arsens today gave Victoria Liberal candidate George Gregory "five minutes" on the platform in the Lower Crystal party rally with her Tuesday.

Friday, Mrs. Arsens took exception to remarks made by Mr. Gregory at an all-party rally. At that time she said "I challenge Mr. Gregory to come to any platform with me between now and election time."

Today, Mr. Gregory accepted. He said: "I will be at her meeting tomorrow night ready to debate with her and her running mates on any subject they choose, from taxes to integrity."

Said Mrs. Arsens today: "I'll give him five minutes of my 20-minute time, and take time to answer him afterwards. We haven't time for a running debate. It's too late now."

But she specified Mr. Gregory must "say exactly" what he said at the rally Thursday, at which he hit out at the Victoria lady member.

In part, he said then: "I didn't wage a campaign to 'stamp out TB in chicken livers. I didn't even accuse the medical profession of holding back a cure for cancer."

Mrs. Arsens takes these remarks as personal affronts.

Whether or not Mr. Gregory will accept the challenge on this limited basis is not yet known.

Mrs. Rose Glinz Dies at Sooke; Funeral Wednesday

Well-known resident of Sooke for 36 years, Mrs. Rose Glinz died Sunday at her home, Sooke Road, at the age of 73.

She is survived by her husband, Arnold Glinz, long-time resident of Sooke, after whom Glinz Lake was named, and one grandson, Charles Glinz of Sooke. She was predeceased by a son.

Born in Switzerland, Mrs. Glinz came to Sooke in 1920. She lived with her husband at Woodside Farm, noted as a dairy farm and guest home, until it was sold in 1947. She also leaves relatives in Switzerland and England.

Funeral services will be held at McCall's chapel Wednesday at 4 p.m. when Rev. R. J. Welch of Holy Trinity Church in Sooke will officiate. Cremation will follow. No flowers by request.

Cop-Killers' Appeal Gets Under Way Here

Carey Looks Weary; Gordon Motionless

Appeal of Joseph Gordon and James Carey against a conviction of murdering a Vancouver policeman opened today at the Courthouse here before a full court of five justices of the B.C. Court of Appeal.

The accused were convicted by Assize Court jury of shooting Constable Gordon Sinclair when he left his prowler car to investigate a report that men were acting suspiciously in the vicinity of a fuel company plant near Granville Street bridge.

They were sentenced by trial Justice A. M. Manson to hang July 10, but a stay was granted Oct. 16 pending hearing of the appeal.

Gordon and Carey, escorted by two policemen, appeared in court to listen to their lawyers argue their appeals.

PALE, WEARY

Carey, a dark young man, looked pale and weary as he listened to a review of his case. He was wearing a black suit and tie and a white shirt. His companion, Gordon, wearing a brown jacket and black trousers, sat erect and motionless beside him.

The Crown claims Gordon was the man who actually shot Sinclair during an attempted robbery. Carey, it alleges, was a party to the crime and therefore as guilty as Gordon.

Lawyer N. Mullins, opening the appeal on behalf of Carey, asked the court to quash the

SEVENTH DAY FOR 'SITDOWNER'

Sign telling her story is displayed by "silicosis sit-downer" on Legislative Building steps, Mrs. Bea Zucco, Vancouver, who today entered seventh day of her "strike" for a Workmen's Compensation Board pension for her husband. No government official has come near her; she intends to sit through Sept. 19 election and maybe longer. Mail came addressed to her today "On Steps of Legislative Buildings." If no government inquiry follows her actions, she hopes to take matter to courts with help of Vancouver lawyer. She claims TB scar tissue in her husband's case covers evidence of silicosis he suffered as interior miner. There is no pension for TB but there is for silicosis.

Guard Dies in City Jail While Watching Prisoners

A civilian guard, hired by the RCMP to watch over convicted murderers James Carey and Joseph Gordon while they are lodged in city jail during an appeal court hearing, collapsed and died early today.

An RCMP spokesman said Sidney Catt, 520 Sturdy, was found slumped on the floor of the jail about 1 a.m.

He was given inhalator treatment on the spot, then taken unconscious to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Both men are under a death sentence.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Are any of the banknotes issued by the Bank of Canada worth a premium in the numismatic market? D.M.A.

A.—Yes. The first issue of bills was made by the Bank of Canada in 1935. That issue was printed in both English and French, but the bills were not dual language bills, part of the issue being wholly in English and part wholly in French. Many more were printed in English than the number in French. The result is that the bills in French are much scarcer now than those in English. All Bank of Canada notes of the first issue, of all denominations are worth a collectors' premium, those printed in French commanding a higher premium than those in English.

Q.—What is the proportion of English in Canada to French? L.T.

A.—The 1951 federal census showed that those speaking only English totalled 9,387,395 and those speaking French only totalled 2,741,812. Those speaking neither English nor French were 152,775. As yet no statement on the June, 1956, census has been made.

Q.—Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

Fall-Toned Chrysanthemums
Seen at Candlelit Wedding

Autumn tones of bronze and gold were featured in floral decorations of chrysanthemums in Church of Our Lord Saturday evening when Barbara Dale became the bride of John Leighton Hurley. Dr. J. G. Brown conducted the doubling marriage ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dale, 2666 Dalhousie Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hurley, 1841 St. Ann Street. Tall yellow tapers completed the setting.

The bride chose a full-length gown of sheerest nylon organza posed over taffeta, and a bouffant net crinoline. The slim-fitting bodice featured a wide, oval neckline banded with a shirred net insert edged with seed pearls. The same trimming formed a pannier on the full skirt. Tulle and seed pearls created a headband which held her chapel-length veil and she wore a pearl necklace and earrings set. Green orchids formed her bridal bouquet.

Miss Sue Mitchell, maid of honor, and Miss Catherine Dale, bridesmaid, were gowned in pale yellow and aquamarine crystalline over taffeta. The dresses were styled with V-necklines and bouffant skirts. They wore matching headresses and carried crescent bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Leslie (Buzz) Harmsworth was best man and Dennis Hurley and Ronald Hurley, brothers of the groom, were ushers. An heirloom cloth covered the bride's table at the reception in the home of her parents. The three-tier wedding cake decorated with yellow roses and flanked by yellow canes centred the table. Uncle of the bride, Clyde Ballantyne, proposed the toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon motor trip to Portland, Ore., Mrs. Hurley wore an imported champagne wool sheath dress with bodice of French embroidered lace and green topcoat. Her hat and accessories were in shades of champagne and dark brown. Mr. and Mrs. Hurley will make their home in Victoria.

Stamp Collecting a Hobby
To Interest Your Children

By NANCY CLEAVER

Did you know that the greatest of all stamp collectors, Count Philippe von Ferrari, started his hobby when he was around 10 years old? His mother, a wealthy Italian duchess, realized that her bright, moody son needed an interest to take his thoughts off himself. The boy was nervous and sickly. He developed a great enthusiasm for stamps, and spent his years and his fortune on the profession of philately.

Stamp collecting, unlike gardening, is not confined to a certain time of the year. Another great advantage of a stamp hobby is that it can be started in childhood and carried on all through life. Many strenuous physical activities, such as tennis and other games, must be limited by most people as they grow older. Not so stamp collecting.

Both boys and girls fall under the spell of stamp collecting, and collectors are found in almost every land. Both King George I and Franklin D. Roosevelt were ardent collectors. Clara Bow built up a wonderful collection. Some wealthy men have amazing collections, and many individuals in modest circumstances have used their wits and their knowledge to gather a collection of which they can be justly proud.

Countless hobbies have engaged mankind for hundreds of years, but this most popular of all modern leisure time pursuits is only a little over a century old. In 1840 the first stamp, with its likeness of Queen Victoria, was issued in Britain.

Today in practically every country in the world, stamped envelopes carry letters and parcels are sent by mail. It has been estimated that there are now well over 150,000 different kinds of stamps. To own one of each kind is an utter impossibility, because of this vast number. Some have become very rare. There is only one known specimen of a famous one-cent British Guiana stamp. Parents do well to buy a big world stamp album and an "all different" package of stamps

Guaranteed Debt

The printed budgets of every finance minister—of British Columbia with almost negligible exception are today on file in the provincial library. From Mr. Tadow, the exact if taciturn treasurer of an early day, to Mr. John Hart, the dean of former B.C. finance ministers in point of service, they have set out the state and status of the provincial debt. Mr. Hart, served by essentially the same staff as Finance Minister Bennett, year after year, listed the direct debt, the guaranteed debt and the contingent liabilities of the province without equivocation. From the gross of what was owing and active he deducted the sinking funds and other reserves to post the net debt. And Mr. Hart's reports were accepted throughout Canada.

The direct debt of the province is comprised in its direct borrowings under its own hand. The guaranteed debt is—as it states on every debenture so issued—the province's guarantee of both the principle and interest of borrowings issued under the name of some provincial agency other than the treasury itself. The contingent liabilities under Mr. Hart and previous treasurers were provincial guarantees from the past such, for instance, as the former debts of the Grand Trunk Pacific before it was absorbed into the CNR. Up to Premier Bennett's time most of the liabilities listed as "contingent" were little more than book entries in situations where B.C. responsibility long ago had run out.

To call any part of the guaranteed debt of the province a "contingent liability" is a misnomer. It is debt with a double guarantee. The B.C. Power Commission will likely retire its successive loans without help from the treasury. The PGE on the capital debt can scarcely repay its capital debt within the lifetime of living generations. The Toll and Bridges Authority may be somewhere in between, depending on whether the tolls are run out or lifted to serve some future political need.

Whatever it may be called borrowing is debt especially when the seal of the crown is stamped on it. The present administration gains little by departing from the former method of listing British Columbia's funded obligations. It may on the contrary lose something in public confidence in its representations.

—Daily Colonist, Sept. 13, 1956

The Liberal Party Pledges:
INTEGRITY IN REPORTING THE PUBLIC DEBT

A Court Without Evidence

Mr. Bennett has discussed former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers during his Interior B.C. election campaign. The premier has made glowing pronouncements and ceremonial gestures—and in so doing, has indicted himself before the bar of public opinion.

... what poor Sommers has to do is to clear himself, in his own constituency," says Mr. Bennett. "It is he, not me, who has been accused of anything, and he is not the one being sued. And now that his name has been spread over the headlines, he knows he must clear himself."

"He is trying to clear himself, first with the local people, the highest court in the land under our democracy, and then in the courts."

"He must do that before he comes back into the cabinet."

Mr. Bennett is quite correct in saying nobody has charged Mr. Sommers with anything in the courts.

And he uses a fine phrase when he talks about Mr. Sommers clearing himself "first with the local people, the highest court in the land under our democracy."

But Mr. Bennett himself has effectively nullified this "highest court in the land under our democracy" by depriving it of the facts on which alone it may reach an honest judgment.

The court of public opinion has been paralyzed, and Mr. Bennett has been the paralyzing agent.

Opposition members of the legislature asked for the light to be turned on all facets of the Sturdy-Sommers case. Newspapers throughout the province have campaigned for disclosure of the facts which alone could repudiate or prove certain allegations.

Mr. Bennett has kept those facts dark. His Attorney General, Mr. Bonner, has yet to act on the R.C.M.P. report arising from a special investigation of the issue—and this in spite of claims by members of the legislature that if certain statements are true then one man should be tried for perjury in office, if they are not true another should be charged with perjury.

This newspaper does not presume, and has not presumed, to pass judgment on the merits of the case.

Mr. Bennett's pious statements on the whole issue ring hollowly from the campaign platform. Mr. Sommers, he says, is trying to clear himself first with the local people, the voters of Rossland-Trail, "the highest court in the land under our democracy." But Mr. Bennett has refused stubbornly to permit that court to have the evidence.

What a mockery to make of a cherished democratic institution!

A Pastel Bridal Motif In Church by the Lake

Delicate shades of yellow and turquoise were seen in the wedding entourage of Miss Enid Ruth Cuthbert whose marriage to Josiah Bull took place Saturday evening in the Church by the Lake at Elk Lake.

Rev. J. N. Clark heard the wedding vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Cuthbert, 4462 Wilkinson Road, and son of Police Chief Josiah Bull and Mrs. Bull, 4201 Quadra Street. Miss E. Middleton played traditional wedding music as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father.

For the ceremony, the bride wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin and net fashioned with long sleeves. Sequins and seed pearls outlined the deep sweetheart neckline of the fitted bodice which was inset with a yoke of net. The bouffant skirt of scalloped tiers of lace featured tiny rows of tulle from the waist to toe-tipping length of the front panel. Her chapel veil cascaded from a dainty flower-shaped head-dress of pearls and sequins in her blond hair. She carried a Bible, topped with a mauve orchid, from which white streamers knotted with white heather floated.

Maid of honor, Miss Marlene Hurst, and bridesmaid, Miss Joan Bull, sister of the groom, wore gowns of lace over taffeta fashioned with three-quarter-length sleeves, scalloped necklines and full ballerina-length skirts. Miss Hurst wore pale yellow and carried a bouquet of pale yellow tinted carnations. Miss Bull's gown was of turquoise and her bouquet was matching. Both wore matching tinted flowers in their hair.

The groom had his brother, Frank Bull, as best man, and Craig Massie and Robert Douglas ushered guests to marked pews.

Yellow and turquoise motif was used to decorate the Agricultural Hall in Saanichton where the wedding reception was held. A cutwork linen cloth covered the bride's table where the wedding cake was centred. Pastel flowers in the bridal colors flanked the cake. Norman Howard proposed the toast to the bride's future happiness.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to Island, the bride wore a mauve nylon print dress with mauve hat and accessories and a white coat.

All-White Wedding Setting Perfect Foil for Bride and Her Attendants

The beauty of an all-white decorative theme in St. George's Martyr Church last Saturday evening created a perfect setting for the marriage of Roberta Isabel Crombie and George Theodore Holmen.

The bride was gowned in lustrous embroidered white satin brocade styled on princess lines with two soft inverted pleats in front billowing out below the waistline and extending into a train at the back. Bodice of the gown, hand-embroidered with mother of pearl sequins, pearls and rhinestones, had close fitting sleeves ending in lily points and a sweetheart neckline outlined with pearls.

A circular tiered veil with hand-rolled scalloped edge was held to the head with a small, diamond-shaped hat hand-embroidered to match the gown and outlined in pearls. She wore a necklace and earrings of culture pearls.

A touch of exquisite color was added in the cascade bouquet of pale pink Reubrum lilies.

Pan-shaped white and gold chandeliers, candelabra and calla lilies, and candelabra with long white tapered candles decorated the church. Guest pews were marked with white satin bows and streamers, a single gladiolus and trailing ivy. Rev. William Hills conducted the ceremony and Philip Hughes was the organist.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Crombie, 3350 Uplands Road, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Holmen of Le Roy, Sask.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Pastel-toned gowns of satin brocade were worn by the attendants, Miss Dorothy Curry, maid of honor; Mrs. J. Barry, bridesmatron; and Miss Davina Crombie, bridesmaid. Princess styled and in waltz-length, the gowns had V necklines, the centre front and back panels extending over the shoulders and inverted pleats over the skirt seams, extending into very full skirts. Hats of the same material with mohair braid and rhinestone trim were worn and the trio carried cascade bouquets of white chrysanthemums tied with ribbons to match their gowns. Each wore a double strand choker of pearls, gift of the bride.

Best man was Larence Wallace and the ushers were Marvin Holmen, Keith Greenwood and Curtis Drover.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents where the white decorative theme was continued. In the living room with calla lilies, white gladioli and candles. A three-tier wedding cake was set on a table with an heirloom Venetian cloth and silver candela. Dr. Michael Pottinger, Vancouver, cousin of the bride, proposed the toast to her happiness.

Mothers of the bride and groom assisted in receiving guests. Mrs. Crombie wore a copper and rose taffeta ensemble and Mrs. Holmen, a periwinkle blue ensemble.

The young couple are now motoring in the Pacific northwest states on honeymoon. The bride traveled in a green-tweed suit with darker green velvet trim and matching green velvet hat, brown accessories. She wore a green orchid corsage.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Holmen will live at 1301 Pandora Avenue.

Vows and Rings Exchanged In St. Andrew's Cathedral

While Miss M. McKay played traditional wedding music, Miss Phyllis Ann Knott, on the arm of her father, entered St. Andrew's Cathedral Saturday evening and proceeded up the centre aisle to the altar rail where she was met by her groom, Arthur Gerald Anderson.

The young couple were married by Father M. J. O'Connell in a double-ring ceremony.

The bride was gowned in a lace over satin dress fashioned with a ballerina-length bouffant skirt, and a lace jacket with lily point sleeves. The collar was daintily embroidered with seed pearls, matching the head-dress of pearls which held her fingertip veil of net banded with lace. She wore a double-strand pearl necklace with matching earrings, the groom's gift, and completed her ensemble with a bouquet of red roses interspersed with white stephanotis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Knott, 1121 Woodstock Avenue, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, 3226 Doncaster Drive.

Mrs. O. Duckmanton was matron of honor, and was gowned in a blue ballerina-length dress of net and lace. She wore a chapel-length veil.

ESTATE FURNISHINGS GO UNDER THE HAMMER THIS WEEK

A collection of Antique Works of Art which has fascinated me over the years has finally come on the market.

This and other estates are going to the highest bidders this Wednesday through Friday at the half-century-old Maynard auction building.

Preview of this auction, which runs to something like one thousand lots, will be Tuesday afternoon and evening and Wednesday morning. There will be some afternoon sessions and three night sessions all comprising many interesting items for collectors and buyers interested in better class modern furnishings.

It's human nature to want to see something before anyone else and I got quite a thrill out of a sneak preview.

I can't help thinking if one could know the entire history of some of these pieces, quite a story could be told.

and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Will Anderson was best man, and ushers were Bill Anderson and Owen Duckmanton.

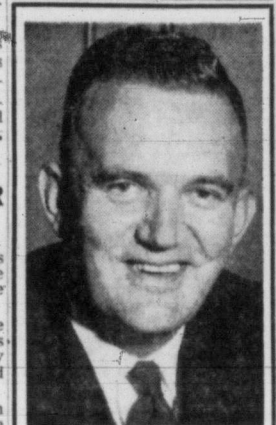

Following a reception at Connaught House, where the bride's uncle, A. T. Drew, proposed the toast to her happiness, the newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and then on to Portland.

For travelling, the bride wore a turquoise knitted suit with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Birthday Christening

St. Paul's Presbyterian Church was scene of a christening ceremony in which the names Cheryl Rae were bestowed upon the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sparks on the occasion of her first birthday. Rev. Edgar Foreman officiated and godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hodgson.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

Because of poor attendance at the Scouters' Council meeting Thursday, a special meeting has been called Oct. 11 instead of the Green Plums meeting. Members of the Akela club are also asked to attend.

Charles Guiguet of the Provincial Museum gave a demonstration at Thursday's meeting of skinning a squirrel, and also showed how to stuff a small animal.

Major H. B. Hunter, DSO, honorary district commissioner, was a visitor.

Gordon Head Troop has been taken over by Jerry Martin, a former member of the RCMF, who led a troop at Prince Rupert.

Royal Oak Group: Twenty Cub Scouts turned out for the first regular meeting Tuesday. Akela H. Roberts is seeking an assistant and anyone interested should contact him at 611 Ralph Street.

Tillamook Group: There will be a special combined meeting of both packs and the troop on Monday, Sept. 17. It is expected about 20 Cubs will be going up to the troop.

Cabot Bay Group: Ron Johnson, ASM of the Third Victoria Troop, has taken over as SM of the Cabot Bay Sea Troop.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Barbara Anthony, aged 11, Parma Heights, Ohio, for her question:

How Do They Forecast the Weather?

Anybody can be a weather prophet of sorts just by taking a look at the skies. Those low, dark clouds are riding towards us on the wind. It's going to rain, we say. We may be right. Those thunderheads are going to break in a storm. With such a warning, any sensible weather prophet takes shelter. Today the bright sun shines from a cloudless sky. Anybody can predict fair weather from such a sky—at least for an hour or so.

Some weather prophets depend on old sayings. Red in the morning, shepherd's fair warning. These forecasts are based on past experience. Almanacs also predict weather on past experience. They forecast a year's weather based on the records of many past years. Seasonal conditions are apt to be right. Cold, frost and snow are usual for winter, warm sunshine for the summer. But local storms and conditions cannot be forecast by this method.

The daily weather forecast is one of the big, useful jobs done by the weather bureau. It is based on a giant-sized look at the skies and distant weather conditions, plus an estimate of weather behaviour. The look-see is done over a vast network of observation posts. There are lonely weather stations in Alaska, inside the Arctic Circle, dotted along the coasts and way over the Atlantic.

What has the weather in Alaska to do with us? Weather is always on the move. It no sooner builds up in the restless atmosphere than it moves away, changing as it goes. All our weather arrives from some place else. The lonely weatherman.

The weather experts know how distant weather conditions are likely to develop as they move along. They know the speed and direction of their journeys. The forecast is what we can expect, what is most likely to happen over our heads. How accurate is the forecast based on all this data? The weatherman can be very sure of the weather for the next one to 12 hours. He is fairly accurate in a 12 to 18 hour forecast. His forecast of 3 to 5 days ahead is a little better than yours. For the changeable weather can surprise even a weatherman.

IRISH GIFT OF GAB

Broadway Cast Ebullient In Readings on Bare Stage

NEW YORK (CP) — A few years Brown's Body, but perhaps it is ago a brilliant reading of Bernard Shaw's "Gift of Gab" of the Irish that Broadway was willing to fill a For Paul Shyre has adapted theatre to hear actors deliver the Pictures in the Hallway, the second of Sean O'Casey's five volumes of autobiography, to the same medium and the performance, which opened a limited-run Sunday, has an ebullient reminiscent of Don Juan.

Producer Paul Gregory repeated the experiment with "The Playboy of the Western World," which opened a limited-run Sunday, has an ebullient reminiscent of Don Juan.

Bing, Kathy Go Fishing

MONTREAL, Calif. (AP) — Bing Crosby and Kathy Grant planned to go fishing in McCloud River today with Phil Harris and his wife, Alice Faye.

Asked about rumors of marriage to Miss Grant, the 52-year-old crooner said: "I have no plans with Miss Grant. No comment."

Crosby, the Harris and Faye other Hollywood entertainers Sunday raised $32,500 at a benefit performance to give this village of 500 a new hospital.

Famed Opera Company Airlifted for Dates
MILAN (AP) — The famed La Scala Opera Company is flying to South Africa in two airlifted groups for performances at the Johannesburg festival. Mozart's "Così fan tutte" and Donizetti's "Elisir d'Amore" are on the program.

Theatre Guild's 'Dial M' Needs Swifter, More Keyed Up Pace

First nights, however, are most valuable for the lessons they provide and with production technique smartened up this should make popular entertainment.

Opening night of the new season on Victoria Theatre Guild's Langham Court stage drew a capacity attendance Saturday.

The complicated suspense drama had an attentive if not too critical audience and might be said, on the whole, to have gone over fairly well.

Major share of the credit for this fact lies at the feet of one member of the small cast, Gerald Guest alone captured the necessary intensity and succeeded almost single-handed in effecting some spine-tingling moments. His performance was at all times intelligent and consistent.

Don Ross is a veteran of some top Theatre Guild performances but as the whodunit writing ex-sweetheart of Margot Wendice, he fails to come to grips completely with what, in the first place, appears to be an under-developed character.

CAME CLOSE
Benita Considine, the candidate for murder, came very close to a satisfactory performance. She has a pleasing stage presence and vocal quality, but the acting as well as the dictation needed more projection.

Roy Blodgett, in his one long scene with Guest, dealt only with the externals of his role. Most satisfactory supporting performance was given by Ray Huett who was nonchalant and easy while conveying the underlying steel of the police officer.

A swifter more "keyed up" pace would greatly assist in smoothing out some of these defects in performance.

LET'S RESTORE Political GOVERNMENT

Politics is not a word to be ashamed of. Your dictionary defines it as the science of government based on certain principles and practised by qualified people.

The Liberal Party is a political party—not a "movement". It was founded on the great 19th century principles of tolerance, respect for individual rights and the widest possible freedom from government interference consistent with justice, order and social progress.

Liberal philosophy is not mystical nor dictatorial; it favours no special group; is neither radical nor reactionary. It is tied to no ready-made economic theories. It welcomes differences of opinion and encourages universal participation in public affairs.

Through all its ups and downs, the Liberal Party has never repudiated or lost sight of these principles. Over the years they have won for it the continuing support of the majority of thoughtful Canadians from coast to coast.

Today, the Liberal Party in British Columbia is no splinter group but an effective body of able citizens—men and women competent to handle our affairs with dignity, integrity and good common sense.

The Liberals are the only party with a full slate of sound, responsible candidates in every B.C. riding plus a program of sound, constructive legislation which they are pledged to carry out with all reasonable speed.

This is politics in the best sense. Let's get back to it!

LIBERAL PLATFORM HIGHLIGHTS

- Reduce taxes, beginning with the reduction of the provincial sales tax to 4% and the cutting of all car license fees to $10;
- Give true road value for car and truck taxes by building more and better roads, competently engineered and let by competitive contract only;
- Guard against dissipation of our natural resources—forest—fish—power;
- Establish a permanent Development Board to do for British Columbia what the Gordon Commission is now doing for Canada;
- Re-establish a full-time Labour Relations Board; extend workmen's compensation to include all commercial fishermen; provide arbitration rights for the Civil Service of British Columbia; refer all labour matters to the Standing Home Commission on labour;
- Honour our responsibility to the aged, sick and poor;
- Form a Department of Youth Affairs under a responsible minister to aid our youth in education, sports, the arts and all their endeavours and to combat the ever-growing problem of juvenile delinquency;
- Meet disaster to agriculture with direct action;
- Restore the authority of Municipal Councils and School Boards;
- Revitalize the Provincial Advisory Committee on Indian Affairs;
- Re-establish true and conventional methods in stating the debt and financial position of the province;
- Respect the democratic function of the opposition, as criticism is the symbol of free society.

DO YOU LIVE IN COWICHAN-NEWCASTLE?

IS VERY IMPORTANT TO ME

- There is so much to be done NOW to make this Country a better place in which to live. I want to help do this!
- I have a wife and three children. I want your children and mine to find a Country where they can make the most of their opportunities!

- I hope that you will see in me a new and better Liberal Party in this Province. I will do what I can to make it that way!
- Do you really believe that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Party has changed its ideas on Socialism? Do you think that the C.C.F. Party, let alone the people of this Province, believe that Bob Strachan is the leader who will take them into power? When C.C.F. chances were greatest in 1952, at a time when political allegiances were changing wholesale, they lost ground. How can they hope to make it up now without a Winch or a Webster to lead them?
- Do you resent being called on to vote AGAIN for a Government which, when faced with a decision either to clear Mr. Sommers or to punish his accuser, instead calls an Election and asks you to vote when YOU do not have the facts? Is this the Government that KEEPS YOU INFORMED?
- Is all this borrowing the PAY AS YOU GO Government promised us in 1953? Are you not just a little tired of GOVERNMENT BY CATCH-WORD?
- Do you believe the Premier when he says the Liberals and the C.C.F. Party have NO PROGRAMME and have NOTHING CONSTRUCTIVE to offer? Does he think that you will believe him if he says it often enough and loud enough? NO ONE ASKING FOR YOUR VOTE HAS NOTHING TO OFFER.
- I realize that in order to make a showing in this Riding, I will be receiving the support of those who would not vote Liberal under ordinary circumstances. This fact makes me more resolved than ever to be a representative of all the voters, rather than just a spokesman for my immediate supporters.

Thank you for your consideration,

Bob Strachan

my side of the story

A Continuing Series
By THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

Now (as wife of the Governor of the Bahamas) I scarcely had a spare moment. Every morning at the Red Cross, each afternoon at the canteen. Here I did a little of everything; but I found that my real talent was a short-order chef.

I never kept track of the number of orders of bacon and eggs that I served up, but on the basis of 40 an afternoon and 365 afternoons for nearly three years, I arrive at a rough total of about 40,000. And that's a lot of eggs.

One of the military censors confided to me that the principal item of news in the outgoing letters from the troops to their families was their account of just having finished a plate of bacon and eggs personally served and prepared by the Duchess of Windsor.

Everyone was considerate of me: everyone helped, whether at the Red Cross, the canteen, the bazaars and garden parties to raise funds, or the cocktail parties I gave to introduce each new contingent of R.A.F. cadets as they arrived.

I was busier than I had ever been: but each day, with its continuing chores, brought the satisfaction of useful work gladly done. I had come to these people as an utter stranger: now I felt almost as if I had always been part of their lives and they of mine.

Moved by this feeling of identification with the island life, David and I decided that the best contribution we could make was to found clinics for the care of expectant mothers and young children.

We had observed the woeful lack of such care on the outlying parts of the island of New Providence; therefore we built our first clinic on the western part and another on the eastern. They are, I am happy to say, still being maintained.

WAR MOVES AWAY

By early 1944 the war had begun to move away from our island shores. The U-boats had been driven back into the mid-Atlantic; the American Rangers who had been training for the battle of Europe, and the British Commandos who had been preparing for the invasion of Burma, had moved out. Only the R.A.F. training activities remained at a high pitch.

David's duties now became increasingly perfunctory. Craving more active service and hopeful that his hard work there would merit his assignment to a post closer to the important theatres of war, he wrote to friends in the government, suggesting a transfer. All that Winston Churchill could do for him was to offer the governorship of Bermuda—exchanging one backwater of the war for another. Bitterly disappointed, David declined the offer and decided to finish out his war service where he was. It was clear now beyond all question that David's family were determined to keep him relegated to the furthest reaches of the Empire.

This attitude was not unexpected by me. I realized, nonetheless, how disappointed he must have been at heart.

Some considerable time before, I had decided entirely on my own volition and without his knowledge to make one last try to reach his mother and to heal the breach between them.

WROTE TO QUEEN

What I thought was a proper opportunity for such an attempt had presented itself at the departure for England of the Bishop of Nassau, the Rt. Rev. John Daughish. We had formed a warm friendship with him; moreover, he had been chaplain on board HMS Indomitable when David's father, as Prince of Wales, went to Canada.

Because of this old association, Bishop Daughish, I felt, was certain to be received by Queen Mary. I therefore decided to write a letter for him to present when he went to see her.

I still have the rough draft from which I composed the letter. This is what I wrote:

Madam,

I hope you will forgive my intrusion upon your time as well as my boldness in addressing Your Majesty. My motive for the latter is a simple one. It has always been a source of sorrow and regret to me that I have been the cause of any separation that exists between mother and son and I can't help feeling that there must be moments, perhaps, however fleeting they may be, when you wonder how David is.

The Bishop of Nassau is leaving in a short time for England, having been appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Lang, as secretary to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, an advancement over his post here. I thought if you wished to hear news of David you might send for him. His name is the Rt. Rev. John Daughish. He is a delightful man and has been of the greatest help to us here, not only through his understanding but his knowledge of local conditions on this tiny Isle.

He can tell you if all the things David gave up are replaced to him in another way, and the little details of his daily life, his job, etc., the story of his flight from France, leaving all his possessions behind. The horrors of war and the endless separations in family have in my mind stressed the importance of family ties.

I hope that by the end of summer we will be nearer that victory for which we are all working so hard and for which England has so bravely lighted the way.

I beg to remain,
Your Majesty's most humble and obedient servant
Wallis Windsor.

In due course I received from the bishop a letter telling of his audience with Queen Mary. She had shown keen interest in David's work in the Colony and had asked many questions. But when the bishop had mentioned what I was doing, with, I judge, some show of appreciation and approval, he met a stone wall of disinterest. However, some weeks later there did come a curiously oblique response. David read me a letter from his mother. In it was this sentence: "I send a kind message to your wife."

David was astonished. "Now what do you suppose," he asked in genuine bewilderment, "has come over Mama?" I made no comment; and David never received the answer to his question until he read this chapter.

AN EDITORIAL

MR. BENNETT'S CHICKENS COMING HOME TO ROOST?

MR. ARTHUR LAING says that he detects a ground swell of resentment against the Social Credit government, and is cheered for the statement. There are many indications that he is right. Cabinet ministers are being heckled into silence at public meetings. Labor has come out flatly and told its people to "Vote anything but Social Credit." The farm vote is vocally hostile. Letters-to-the-editor are running ten to one against the incumbent party. The Premier is summoning hasty press conferences for the sole purpose of denouncing the press—a classic example, incidentally, of democracy in action.

All this is in marked contrast to the spirit of 1953, when the prevailing mood seemed to be: "Let's give them a chance."

The government has now had three years in which to show what it could do; it could have had at least a year more, but called a snap election for reasons best known to itself.

How has its promise measured up with its performance? In the answer to that question may be found the reason for such widespread public discontent:

1. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "progressive reduction of taxes." Instead, it did exactly the opposite, until today British Columbia is the most highly taxed province in Canada.

2. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "Pay-as-you-go." Instead, it has launched massive borrowings which have skyrocketed B.C.'s total debt to new heights, and at the same time has attempted—by a curious system of reckoning—to persuade people that the debt is lower than ever.

3. Social Credit has advertised widely that it "Keeps you informed." In the Sommers-Sturdy case, which both the Premier and the Attorney-General have attempted to dismiss as unimportant, it has done exactly the opposite; it has done everything it could to keep the voters in the dark. Only the courageous action of Deane Finlayson and three newspapers, and a decision of the courts, saved free discussion on this vital matter.

4. Since the advent of Social Credit, there has been a large-scale evacuation of top civil servants from the highways department and the P.G.E. These have been followed—perhaps circumstantially, but nonetheless ominously—by breakdowns at site.

These are but four firm, demonstrable facts contributing to public unrest about the government. Another, more abstract consideration, lies in what might be called the "tone" of government.

Arnold Webster put his finger on it, in that memorable all-night session earlier this year, when he asked the government if it couldn't muster "just a little humility" in its approach to affairs, and remember that it was a servant of the people.

The public would have a great deal more respect for Social Credit, we feel sure, if it would speak in a more even tone of voice; if it would admit that it made the odd honest mistake; if it would stop trying to denigrate the valuable work done by the good and decent people of other parties before it came to office. The bravura posturing, the snide innuendos, the blatant self-righteousness of the Premier and his ministers only serve to underline their immaturity.

Mr. Bennett has called his election at a time when he considers the opposition sufficiently divided to permit him easy access to office. The current ground-swell may give him pause.

The election is by no means a foregone conclusion. Largely overlooked in the hoopla of the hustings has been the fact that a loss of only three seats—and a gain of no new ones—could place the government in a minority position. With redistribution, there are 52 seats to be contested on Wednesday, which means that the government needs to hold 27 of its 28 seats for the barest of majorities.

Opposing parties have put many fine candidates in the field. It should be noted, however, that among them only the Liberals and the CCF have nominated a full slate of candidates, and thus can hope to form a governing body. In recent years, the socialists' popular vote has been on the decline, which makes the return of the CCF unlikely. For non-socialists, the Liberals therefore offer the only clear alternative to Social Credit. On two pledges alone—immediate reduction of the sales tax, and restoration of integrity to government—the Liberal Party platform deserves serious consideration.

32 Seamen Perish As Ship Founders

BODOE, Norway (AP)—The body of a second man killed in the sinking of the American freighter Pelagia was pulled today from the icy sea off Norway. All the ship's 37 crew members except five men plucked Sunday from a bobbing lifeboat were feared dead.

The lifeboat also contained the body of a steward who died of exposure. An air-sea search for survivors went on. A low-lying search plane sighted the second body drifting among the debris and oil slick where the Pelagia sank in a raging storm Saturday night.

Three planes and a score of ships and fishing boats crisscrossed the area of the shipwreck off Norway's northwest coast. There was a slight chance that survivors could have been washed ashore on one of the hundreds of rock islands that dot the area.

Survivors said they last saw their shipmates on the deck of the sinking freighter. They said that the gale smashed the ship's three other lifeboats and that they were afraid the others were unable to get away.

The British trawler Northern Duke found the lifeboat drifting between Myken and Traena islands, just south of the Arctic Circle. In the space of a night and a morning it had been driven 60 miles by wind and current from the point where the Pelagia sank.

The Pelagia, a Second World War Liberty ship loaded with 10,000 tons of iron ore, was bound from Narvik for Baltimore. Most of the crew were Americans.

Steward Demetrius M. Hadjicostas gave this account: Tremendous seas rolled over the ship and smashed the No. 1 hold. It rapidly filled with water. As the water rose, the bow sank until the propellers broke clear of the water.

The seas shattered part of the bridge, damaged the deck and crushed three of the four lifeboats.

Bitter Election Battle Roars Into Final Days

Premier in Scuffle With CCF Candidate

British Columbia's election campaign, which has turned into one of the bitterest in recent history, today roared down the home stretch to the voting on Wednesday.

FIRST TIME

'Beat Socred' Ad Issued By Labor Body

Organized labor in Victoria spoke out publicly today against the "snap election" called by the Social Credit government for Wednesday.

Secretary of Victoria Labor Council Percy Rayment released contents of an advertisement to be published prior to the election, headed "Defeat the Socreds."

It says:

"Because . . . thousands disenfranchised by snap election; Government employees denied equal rights under the Labor Relations Act;

"Control of our natural resources passing into the hands of large corporations;

"No public investigation of charges of corruption; Get out and vote."

FIRST MOVE

It is the first time former Trades and Labor Congress segment of the new Victoria Labor Council has ever taken an active, outspoken stand in politics, Mr. Rayment said.

The statement follows stands taken by the council in a regular meeting two weeks ago, and a statement of policy issued by B.C. Federation of Labor, provincial organization of the former Canadian Labor Congress.

DELIBERATE

Mr. Bonner charged the Opposition leader with deliberately attempting to mislead the people. "The deputy attorney-general has reviewed the RCMP report at my request," Mr. Bonner said. "He advises me that neither the paragraph described nor one to that effect are anywhere to be found in the report."

RUNNING STORY ON AIR

Times, CKDA Team To Cover Election

The Times and radio station CKDA will co-operate in giving the voters of Victoria and southern Vancouver Island the fullest up-to-the-minute provincial election coverage on Wednesday night.

Polls close at 8 p.m. daylight time and The Times-CKDA team will swing into action immediately as counting of the votes begins.

A running story will continue through the night until local seats are decided and the main picture on the outcome of the election throughout the province is settled.

Province-wide as well as local summaries will be maintained on large blackboards at The Times and results will be supplied by telephone 2-3131 to the public. CKDA meanwhile will maintain continuous broadcasts from returning officers' stations and the main CKDA newsroom.

In addition, CKDA will have a microphone installed in The Times newsroom, where commentaries will be made as trends develop.

The Times team of commentators will include Legislative writer Norm Cribbens, Managing Editor Les Fox, and editorial writers Art Stott and Brian Tobin.

CKDA will have a full crew covering all angles, including station president Dave Armstrong, Manager Dave Hill, news director Andy Stephen, production manager Tippy O'Neill and newsmen Phil Barter, Bob Brooks and Bill Pike.

The Times will feature complete coverage of the election returns, with reactions, in its Thursday issues.

VARY IN SPEED

Dr. W. B. Currie, head of the University of Saskatchewan physics department, said meteors travel at varying rates of speed.

They generally burst into flame because of frictional heat caused when they enter the earth's atmosphere. The heat could have caused this one to explode.

Mrs. Mary Walker, Saskatoon Star-Phoenix correspondent in Shellbrook, 30 miles west of Prince Albert, said the meteor appeared there at 6:45 p.m.

It was accompanied by a "rumble like thunder" and an explosion that shook buildings 10 miles away, she said.

Mrs. O. C. Leubke, who lives about six miles from Holbein, Sask., told Mrs. Walker the explosion banged open their front door.

"We thought it was a jet plane," she said. "It left a bluish white vapor trail in three separate spirals."

Houses were shaken at Shellbrook, Holbein, and nearby Sturgeon Valley.

Mrs. Walker said the meteor was seen in the southeast sky in her district. But persons in Prince Albert and 38 miles north in Anglin Lake saw the meteor to the north. And Waskesieu observers in the Prince Albert National Park said they saw it to the south.

U.S. Ready to Help Pay For Hike in Oil Export

Europe's Fuel Demands Will Be Met If Canal Use 'Impracticable'—Dulles

(UP and AP Dispatches)

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced today that the United States is prepared to finance oil exports from this country to western Europe in case that transit through the Suez Canal becomes "impracticable."

He made the announcement to newsmen at the White House after conferring with President Eisenhower on the Suez crisis. Dulles left by plane this afternoon for a new conference in London on the Suez crisis. Dulles said that in event Egypt blocks the canal, there might have to be increased exports of oil from the United States to western Europe.

He said the U.S. government is prepared to finance such exports through the export-import bank.

As for a report that this country is prepared to put up $500,000,000 to finance a detour of the canal around the South African Cape of Good Hope, Dulles said the U.S. government has reached no agreement with any other nation.

In London, Dulles will participate in a meeting of 18 governments which failed in efforts to get Egypt to accept internationalization of the canal operations.

Dulles reiterated in a formal statement issued after his conference with the president that "we are not trying to organize any boycott of the canal."

In order to achieve a united appeal to the UN Dulles is understood to be ready to consider major revisions in a plan for a Suez Canal users' association. Co-operative establishment of the plan is the principal purpose of the new conference.

This proposal, originated by Dulles but unveiled by Prime Minister Eden last week, calls for the 18 nations to demand that their own pilots be permitted to guide their vessels through the 203-mile canal.

Reports from London say 16 out of the 18 countries which originally backed the plan for international control of the canal have accepted invitations to the new conference there Wednesday.

But many expressed misgivings about the idea of the users' association and made it plain they were not committing themselves in advance to adopting the plan denounced by Egyptian President Nasser as a step toward war.

Meanwhile, Egypt reintroduced the three-convoys system to speed ships through the canal. Convoys were cut to two during Saturday and Sunday after most non-Egyptian pilots quit.

Russian pilot-trainees were aboard four ships in the third convoy that left Port Said today. A third southbound convoy was due to leave there tonight.

The Russians were being instructed by Egyptian pilots. It was expected the Russians would train for 10 days to two weeks before taking ships through on their own.

Today's three convoys totalled 36 ships. There were eight ships on the first southbound convoy and four in the second. At the same time, 24 ships were moving northbound from Suez.

Shipping lines operating through the canal to and from British and European ports today announced a 15 per cent boost in freight rates. The increase, effective Tuesday, will cover added costs caused by any delay in moving through the canal.

British papers began warning their readers of possible oil rationing and higher food prices.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
FATHER, increase this day our courage, help us to choose a hard right against an easy wrong; steer us from devious compromise. Amen.

Island Plane Lands Safely on Highway

VANCOUVER (CP)—The search for a missing silver-colored Luscombe aircraft was called off today when word was received at RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver that the plane with its pilot and passenger had landed on a highway near Nanaimo.

Pilot H. Forbes and his son, Barry, 19, both of Port Alberni, had been reported missing Sunday night on a 90-mile flight from Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley, to Nanaimo. An RCAF spokesman said Forbes landed his plane at Mayo's Landing in swirling fog shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday, the time he was due in Nanaimo.

A Canso aircraft of the RCAF flew out early today when no word was received from Forbes. The downed pilot notified authorities of his position shortly afterwards at 8.40 a.m. and the search was called off.

"Mr. Strachan's imputations are not only completely and utterly false, but unfortunately are typical of the loathsome nature of the campaign being waged by the opposition."

Premier Bennett's row with The Sun developed after he called a sudden press conference Saturday, following a stormy election meeting Friday night.

REQUEST REFUSED
The premier said he had asked publisher Cromie to give him front page space to reply to the stinging editorial of The Sun last week. He said Mr. Cromie had refused.

Today Mr. Cromie said the newspaper will carry on its front page any reply Premier Bennett may make to the editorial.

He said the percentage of the premier's material on page one will depend on its total length and "the closeness with which he, Mr. Bennett, holds to the editorial points."

The editorial, accusing the premier of "deceits and slick political trickeries," was carried on the front page.

In his statement at a press conference Premier Bennett called Mr. Cromie a "newspaper baron . . . trying to set up a super-government over the public representatives."

Mr. Bennett's statement also appeared on the Sun's front page.

The publisher today said Mr. Bennett's "belated Saturday noon request" for three front-page columns in today's edition was too late for serious consideration.

SILLY CLAIM

Mr. Cromie said the premier knows enough "to realize the silliness of suggesting that I conceive 'setting up a super-government over our public representatives'."

At Mission Saturday the premier's scuffle with CCF candidate Nararajan Crewall climaxed a rowdy election rally attended by 600 persons of mixed political sympathies.

SEIZED BY LAPELS

Mr. Grewall rushed from the rear of the crowded hall to the platform during one of several outbursts of heckling and admonished the premier, who seized him by the coat lapels and advised him to sit down.

The ensuing scuffle, which resembled a waltz around the microphone, was broken up by several of the premier's supporters seated on the platform.

Tension mounted again when a youthful heckler, who had called the premier a liar, left the platform hurriedly when Mission Reeve Edward Jones threatened to call the police.

Hardly one of Premier Bennett's statements passed without loud comment from hecklers during his two-and-a-half-hour address which ended without a question period.

"I want the people of this province to watch what is happening here tonight," Mr. Bennett said.

"It's not your province, Bennett," came the reply.

"You never saw Social Crediters act like this," said the premier, drawing cheers from supporters.

He repeated his promise that Social Credit will wipe out the provincial debt by 1962.

OFFER TO BET

"You won't be here in 1962," retorted a heckler.

"I'll be here in '62, you'll never get us out," said Mr. Bennett, and offered to take a wager on it.

In an interview outside the hall after the rally, Mr. Grewall said he had been trying to question the premier about a "libellous open letter."

It was alleged the letter had been sent to many Mission residents. Mr. Grewall said to be the first East Indian to run for provincial office in Canada, said the letter attacked his citizenship and honesty.

RCAF JETS CELEBRATE 'THEIR FINEST HOUR'

OTTAWA (CP)—Twelve CF-100 fighters flew low in tight formation over Parliament Hill Sunday as 1,200 RCAF personnel marched past below in a salute to Battle of Britain Sunday.

Air Vice-Marshal R. E. McBurney, retired, took the salute from a dais in front of Parliament's Peace Tower. Air Marshal C. R. Siemon, chief of the air staff, and other high-ranking air officers, watched the march-past from the dais.

It marked the 16th anniversary of the Battle of Britain. Similar ceremonies were held at RCAF bases across the country and overseas.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain remembered Battle of Britain Sunday with country-wide memorial services and RAF parades.

About 150 relatives of airmen who died in action were among the large congregation at a thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey.

Huge Firepower Amplifies U.S. Middle East Forces

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON—The United States, in this time of new crisis in the Middle East, has about the same number of military units and slightly less military manpower deployed in the European-Mediterranean area than it had four or five years ago.

But in the intervening years firepower available to those forces has been amplified thousands of times through the new availability of nuclear weapons, guided missiles and land and sea-based jet planes.

Defence department spokes-

men emphasized today there has been no sudden build-up of American forces as a result of the dispute over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. This is in line with proclaimed government policy against using the force of arms to keep the canal open.

So far as can be determined (the precise current figures are military secrets) the over-all American military strength in Europe is about 330,000.

Those forces could unleash firepower greater than all American forces in Europe in the Second World War.

Lydia Fires Blast At School Textbooks

Some B.C. school textbooks are leading children into delinquency, Mrs. Lydia Arsens told a Social Credit meeting Saturday night.

The Victoria city candidate alleged that these textbooks "are teaching our 13-year-olds how to date their girl friends when they can't even remember to keep their ears clean."

"That sort of thing leads to delinquency," Mrs. Arsens said. She referred to J. Alan Reid, who in 1952 blasted the Effective Living course then being taught in B.C. Mr. Reid said sex was being taught in the schools in the Effective Living course.

"We have to get rid of these books which were introduced by the old Coalition government," Mrs. Arsens said.

Effective Living was removed from the course of studies and a similar compulsory course, Health and Personal Development, is now being taught.

Ald. J. Donald Smith, another Victoria Social Credit candidate, referred to the hecklers who have been interrupting Premier Bennett at recent meetings.

BETTER PROVINCIAL-MUNICIPAL RELATIONS
Equal treatment for all taxpayers and municipalities. Enlarged provincial grants to municipalities to reduce the tax burden on land.

Tunnel Workers Continue Strike Despite Warning Action Illegal

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER — Tunnel and rock workers, engaged in a struggle with contractors who refuse to recognize their union, threw up picket lines at a B.C. Power Commission project near Campbell River Sunday night.

The action followed closely a decision reached here Sunday by 500 members of the Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union of Canada to continue their province-wide walkout.

The move was approved despite a warning from union secretary Bill Hunchuk that a

DOUBLE AMPUTEE LOST 2 WEEKS WITHOUT FOOD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Earl Lorne Wright, 60-year-old double-amputee who uses one artificial leg and crutches, was found in Stanley Park during the weekend after being missing since Aug. 30.

Police said Mr. Wright, who was in emaciated condition, told them he had not eaten "for nearly two weeks." He said he had been wandering around the park area and sleeping "wherever I could."

Hospital authorities reported he was in fair condition but in serious need of food and rest.

HELP BOWELS Pains in Side & Stomach

Spasmodic functional irritation of the colon or large intestine, is causing thousands to suffer from dull aches or burning pains in the side, gas, heartburn, flatulence, nervousness, bad breath, diarrhoea, constipation, loss of sleep and pep. If you suffer from Spasmodic Colitis, ordinary stomach medicine won't help much. You really need KOLADE POW-DERS which work three ways to relax tense intestine muscles, soothe sore mucous membranes and check acidity. It is not a laxative but works to help nature. court injunction prohibited a continuation of the walkout.

Picketing at Ladore and Upper Campbell Lake dams under construction near Campbell River will make idle about 3,000 workers and affect 20 construction firms.

Other projects affected by the walkout are the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the removal of Ripple Rock—a navigation hazard in Seymour Narrows—the Squamish highway, the Christian Lake highway in the West Kootenays, and the Chekamus hydro development near Squamish.

Union officials said nearly 5,000 men employed on these projects are idle.

The Tunnel and Rock Workers' Union of Canada was formed two weeks ago when the group broke away from the parent body, the International Hod Carriers' Union.

CATTLE POISONED

VANCOUVER—Tests will be carried out this week to make sure the poisoning of the catfish in Burnaby's Deer Lake Saturday was successful.

Fisheries department biologist Stuart Smith, who directed the work, said it appeared completely successful, but test gill nets will later be set in deep waters and seine-netting will be carried out along the shores.

The week's delay is necessary as catfish sometimes take up to a week to die.

EVACUATION SUCCESSFUL

VANCOUVER — About 70 men, women and children were evacuated by an army raft from Annacis Island to Lulu Island Sunday in a combined army-civil defence exercise.

The project proved that the rafts could be used in flood rescue operations.

Originally the army planned the test to demonstrate the capabilities of the rafts in flood rescue work, and CD workers were brought in later to give them practical experience in evacuation procedures.

"HUMAN FLY" THIEF

VANCOUVER — Police reported Sunday that a thief did a "human fly" performance to steal $600 owned by Harry Harris from upstairs room.

To reach the room, the thief cut a hole in wire guarding a junkyard, climbed a seven-foot fence, clambered up a lean-to on the side of the house, climbed a short ladder to the beam of a hoist and walked along the beam to the open window.

POLICE "DISCIPLINARIAN" VANCOUVER — Appointment of a new police "disciplinary" officer responsible for the conduct and deportment of all Vancouver city policemen, was announced during weekend.

Named to the post was Sgt. T. N. Henderson, veteran of 22 years on the Vancouver police force.

CHIEFMANUS — Tender of B. S. Mayer, Crofton, to purchase lots 17 and 18, Block 7 at Crofton, were tentatively approved by North Cowichan Council.

Council accepted the tender of $1,500 but will not convey the title to Mayer until the commercial establishment referred to in the bid has been erected and approved.

A hearing on the municipal zoning bylaw has been set for September 26 in Crofton.

Council has approved a bylaw providing B.C. Electric with easements across municipal land at Maple Bay for the new power line.

Child Run Over By Car Twice Slightly Hurt

ALBERNI — Two-year-old Dorothy Regan was run over by a car Saturday in a trailer camp here.

When the driver, identified as H. B. Currie, was signalled by a woman who saw the accident, he backed up to see what she wanted and the car ran over the child again.

She was reported in good condition in hospital with apparently minor injuries.

11 Missing In Gulf Fog Now All Safe

Eleven persons aboard three vessels lost in the fog near and north of Nanaimo over the weekend have all turned up safely.

Two Lantzville summer residents, Fred Breaks and Albert Allen, beached their boat on Maud Island and were reported safe at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Three Lantzville youths, Bob McLennan, 17; Ken Arkell, 19, and Gerald Arkell, 15, landed safely ashore later in the day.

The 40-foot cruiser Betty with six persons aboard from Campbell River, Nanaimo-bound, was reported safe just 1½ hours after it was reported missing.

6,500 Attend

NANAIMO — Organizers of the fall fair here which ended Saturday are already thinking in terms of a bigger and better effort next year.

More than 3,500 people saw the numerous exhibits Saturday and close to 3,000 persons the day before.

The annual event was held in Exhibition Park and attracted entries from a wide area.

'Vote Carr' Leaflet Pinned to Shark's Fin

PORT ALBERNI — This couldn't happen, but it did. There's a basking shark swimming up and down the west coast of Vancouver Island with an election message attached to a fin.

While W. J. Carr, Soerod candidate for Alberni riding, was crossing Barkley Sound in a speedboat, he noticed the basking shark close by. He asked the boat operator to pull alongside, leaned out with a handy safety pin and attached a "Vote Carr" leaflet to a fin.

When last heard about, the leaflet was standing up well to salt water ravages, residents

Kahloke Resumes Nanaimo Service

Black Ball ferries to Nanaimo from Vancouver resumed at noon Sunday when temporary repairs were made to the ferry slip at Horseshoe Bay.

The ferry Kahloke hit the slip shortly after noon Friday in heavy fog, smashing the guide piles and ripping up a section of the ramp.

Estimate of slip damage has not yet been made, but damage to the Kahloke was not sufficient to put her out of commission.

After the slip smash, Kahloke was in collision with the CPR's Princess of Nanaimo in Vancouver harbor fog. Kahloke again escaped without serious damage, but Princess of Nanaimo was put out of commission.

BACKGROUND HISTORY OF ITALIAN CAMPAIGN

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian government, toward the close of the Second World War, had fears that Canadian soldiers then serving in the Italian campaign might be transferred to newly-liberated Greece as garrison troops.

The Canadian Army's official history of the Italian campaign says the fear led to a sharp exchange of messages between Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain.

During October, 1944, the British government had asked Canada whether 1st Canadian Corps might be used to garrison Austria, Greece or the Dodecanese islands, when hostilities finished, or as internal security troops in the Middle East. The tour would last until shipping became available for their repatriation.

The cabinet replied during November, expressly forbidding such use for Canadians, except for possibly a short period in Austria or northeast Italy.

But then it heard that the corps was to be withdrawn from the line during January-February, 1945, and undergo amphibious training. The impression existed that it might be used in operations against the Dalmatian coast.

When Ottawa learned of the amphibious training program, with its Dalmatian possibilities, Defence Minister McNaughton immediately cabled Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, then the corps commander in Italy, orders that Canadian troops were not to be employed outside Italy without the concurrence of the Canadian government.

Prime Minister King at the same time advised Prime Minister Churchill of Gen. Foulkes' orders. "This formal step is necessary," he said, "since I have given public assurance that Canadian troops will not serve in Greece without the consent of the Canadian government."

Mr. King, answering a Commons question Dec. 6, 1944, had said no Canadian troops were then stationed in Greece and "this government has no wish to interfere in the internal affairs of liberated countries where they can possibly be avoided."

Newly-liberated Greece was in a state of quasi-revolution with various factions struggling for power and British garrison troops trying to maintain order.

Churchill cabled Mr. King his "surprise and grief" at "the suggestion that you might find it necessary to issue a public statement that Canadian troops will not be used in Greece."

"Such a statement," he said, "could only increase our difficulties and postpone settlement of the present troubles in that country."

Mr. King reiterated in reply that he had given public assurance that Canadian forces should not be sent to Greece without Canadian government consent.

"That is a very different matter which is open to no objection and does not increase your difficulties," he said.

Comments the history: "It was a significant development, marking as it did the first occasion on which the government of Canada insisted upon its right to consider and sanction a plan of campaign in which Canadian troops were to be employed."

"The year came to an end with an understanding having been reached that 'without prejudice to their early repatriation' Canadians in the Mediterranean might be used for occupation duties, 'but not outside Austria or northeast Italy.'"

The understanding was never implemented, however, since persistent prodding in London by Lt.-Gen. P. J. Monague, chief of staff at Canadian military headquarters there, finally won consent for the shift of 1st Corps to northwest Europe and the reunion of the Canadian Army.

MONTY SNUBBED McNAUGHTON

OTTAWA—General Montgomery in 1943 refused Canada's army commander permission to visit Canadian troops in Sicily, then fighting their first battle against the Germans. The army's history of the campaign, published Saturday, says "Monty" turned down Gen. McNaughton's request because of a lack of transport.

McNaughton complained, and a month later was invited by Gen. Alexander, Montgomery's superior, to visit his troops.

Elsewhere in the official history of the Canadian participation in the Italian campaign, Lt.-Col. G. W. L. Nicholson writes that the Canadian troops "learned the hard way" that failure to employ sound battle tactics and properly trained troops resulted in very high casualties.

Nicholson said that during the battle for Ortona in December, 1943, Canadian units received reinforcements "some of which had not received advanced training and had much to learn."

This was borne out a month later in the Ortona Salient where Canadian troops, unpractised in battle, were opposed, battalion for battalion, by seasoned veterans of skilled and tenacious German troops. High Canadian casualties resulted.

Nicholson recounts that high Canadian casualties were suffered in the battle for Agira in July, 1943, when Canadian infantry waited too long to attack after an artillery barrage and were mowed down in the open by well-entrenched German troops.

In October 1943, more Canadian troops were needlessly slaughtered in the battle at Colle D'Anchise where infantry attacked too soon without support of armor and were overrun by German tanks supported by infantry, Nicholson said.

The RCR's suffered "a ghastly failure" in the battle of the Lamone River in Dec. 1944. The regiment went across the river without armor and anti-tank guns and were mowed down by German self-propelled guns, tanks and machine gun fire. Changes in the brigade commanders were made after the battle.

Tory Spurns 'Back Door' Election

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Liberal Premier Smallwood was accused of violating democratic voting principles Sunday night by a Progressive Conservative candidate whose seat the premier says he will not contest in the provincial election Oct. 2.

The St. John's West and St. John's North district will not be contested by the Liberals.

Derrick Bowring, Progressive Conservative candidate for St. John's North, issued a statement saying he was not interested in entering the House "through the back door, as it were. Still less am I interested in entering through the grace and favor of Mr. Smallwood."

He said the "principle of democracy is being thwarted" because Liberal supporters in his district would have no chance to vote for their party's candidate.

Communist-Front Groups Raided In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (BUP)—Police have seized five tons of documents in raids on suspected Communist-front organizations in Buenos Aires.

A police spokesman says the raids are "only the beginning of a vast anti-Communist drive" in Argentina, which is one of the three Latin American nations that has not banned the party.

Police said the most important result of the raids so far was the discovery that the Communists had been operating a factory for false passports and identity cards.

J. DONALD SMITH
Social Credit, Victoria

To Victoria Citizens:—
Dear Friends:

Re: $28.00 Dividend to Home Owner, etc.

A man came into my office the other day and said, "Mr. Smith, I have something important to tell you. Our street has been without a sidewalk, curb and gutter for 40 years and no matter how hard we tried, it was impossible to get the required number of home owners to agree to this work. Last week we presented a Petition and its success was due to the fact that the Local Improvement By-Law to do this work (for 15 years) and annual cost to each home owner is to be $20.00 (for 15 years) and the promised Provincial Government $28.00 dividend will pay this and give each and every home owner on our street a tax reduction as well." His concluding comment was, "If this $28.00 dividend means a sidewalk in front of my house, I am for it, and also the Social Credit Government that provides it."

THE OPPOSITION say that the cost of distributing this dividend means a sidewalk in front of my house, I am for it, and also the Social Credit Government that provides it."

Citizens of Victoria:

Once again I have been entrusted with the esteemed opportunity of being one of your Social Credit Candidates for the City of Victoria. Our Social Credit Government has a record of many outstanding achievements of which we are justly proud. Our record of success in four years of Government can be rightly attributed to being men and women of sound vision and courage. We demonstrate it can be done. Unless we break our bonds of party tradition, we are prisoners of our own expectations. Man achieves what he thinks he can. We are conditioned by our thought patterns.

Our Opposition's criticisms are like goldfish put in a bathtub of water while their former bowl is being cleaned. Instead of swimming in larger circles their minds continue to swim in the same circles to which they are accustomed in the little old political bowl.

On September 19 see to it that British Columbia is never again restricted in little old party political fish bowls. Make your vote count in striking out in Social Credit's ocean of democratic freedom, with progress not politics.

Yours for Good Government

HON. W. N. CHANT
Minister Public Works

MRS. LYDIA ARSENS
Social Credit Member, Victoria

Dear Fellow Victorians:

Three years have transpired since you, the people of Victoria, gave us the privilege and the honor of serving you and representing you in the Provincial Legislature.

I can truthfully say that at all times I have endeavored to do my utmost to further your interests, comforts and benefits, and that I have at all times conscientiously fought on your behalf for the things that I deemed were essential to the welfare of those concerned.

I know I have been criticized by some, but to those critics I say: "They knew not whereof they spoke." They spoke without knowledge of facts. Never have I made any statement that I have had to retract or withdraw.

Some times the facts hurt, but I believe it is the solemn duty of every elected Member and our Government to attend to, not only the popular needs of the people but also to those things which may not be so popular.

It isn't how long we remain in office, but rather, what we do while we are in, that counts.

The phenomenal accomplishments of our Government during the past four years, are indeed, a credit to our able Premier, to our Cabinet and to all our M.L.A's.

We are a People's Government. We must remember the sacred, inherited rights of the individual. We must not break faith with those who elect us there.

I humbly acknowledge the great honor that has been mine in representing you, and now again ask for your support, that I may continue to work on your behalf and for those less fortunate than ourselves.

Yours sincerely,

Lydia Arsens

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

The very first thing my very first city editor drummed into my feeble brain was:
GET THE NAMES RIGHT.
So, high unto a quarter of century later, I managed to refer to Ken Anderson of Doman's Lumber as Ken Jackson.

I'll try to do better after the next quarter of a century.

Add to your collection of letters which never got read one from an advertising agency which arrived at our office today and commenced: "This is not just another publicity release..."

I was complaining the other day because my eyes always seem to be tired. Tony Dickson had a ready explanation:
Too much no television.

One of the most fascinating things about nature is this true fact about the bald eagle.
The bald eagle has just as much hair as any other eagle.

Lullaby for the two-dollar better:
Every little bet I'm losing / wrong horses choosing / at Sandown.

Ben Laughren has announced he's going to make another try at swimming the Strait. Too bad. I thought when he got his new job, he'd stick to his knitting.

If friends drop in this evening, and time hangs heavy on your hands, try this little parlor game:
Challenge your friends to name ALL the candidates in Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich, and Oak Bay.

You can make yourself a little money betting they won't get them all.
There are 13 in Victoria, four each in adjoining municipalities for a total of 25.

(How did I make out? Missed out on three, all in the city riding.)

Can we please have a closed session on politicians who paraphrase Churchill's "so few, so many" eulogy?

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Hunters out on the first weekend of the new season proved fair game for RCMP and Provincial Game Branch officials in the Goldstream area over the weekend.

A three-man RCMP team from Colwood detachment nabbed 13 persons for motor-vehicle licence infractions in a highway check, while two Game Branch officials picked up another five for hunting violations.

On Saturday night R. F. Neal, 4 Lakus, noticed a "hot-rod" parked near his garage.

Sunday morning, when he went to pick up his own car, he found two rear wheels had been removed, one with a new tire.

Police believe youths in the hot-rod were responsible.

..Could it be that Victoria's underworld is planning a party? On an otherwise quiet weekend, these break-ins were reported to police:

W. Harrison, 2538 Quadra, said someone entered his home through an open window and stole a blue serge suit.

Ian Ross, 1509 Shasta Place, said a thief squeezed through a hinged door panel left open for his dog, and lifted a pink cotton dress.

In each case the clothing was the only loot taken.

City Council committees expected to meet this week are parks on Wednesday at 10 a.m. and finance on Thursday at 10 a.m. Public works committee meets Monday at the same time.

A tag day Saturday in Victoria and Oak Bay yielded $1,169, Mrs. F. T. Lee, treasurer of Royal Jubilee Hospital Women's Auxiliary reported today. Funds will be used for purchase of hospital equipment, furnishings and nurses' welfare services.

View Royal Community Association will meet in the community hall tonight at 8 to discuss a proposed drainage system in the district. Cost of the installation, $285,000, would be paid over a 20-year period by View Royal taxpayers.

A 20-year-old youth admitted in city police court today wearing a sports jacket which had been stolen by a younger member of his family from the Hudson's Bay Co.

Paul Schultz, 727 Front, was remanded to Wednesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall for sentence.

He pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of stolen property under $50.

Reginald L. Foster, HMCS New Glasgow, was fined a total of $75 in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to careless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

Magistrate H. C. Hall also ordered his driver's licence suspended.

The charges arose from an accident July 27 when Foster collided with the rear of another car on Esquimalt road near Springfield.

James Clarke, 319 Chester, was sentenced in city police court today to three months in jail on conviction on a charge of assault causing grievous bodily harm.

Clarke was accused of assaulting Joyce Betty Sandberg, with whom he had lived for seven years. She required a week's treatment in hospital following the attack.

Clarke's counsel said today that heavy drinking was the cause of his troubles.

Loss of two diamond rings each worth $500 was reported to city police over the weekend by a U.S. visitor.

Miss Louise Knopp, Oakland, Calif., said the rings were dropped from her mother's purse sometime during a day of sight-seeing Saturday.

Memberships into the Oak Bay Art Club are being accepted before the fall session, Oct. 2 to Dec. 18. Weekly meetings will be held Tuesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Membership is limited to 30 artists and a few vacancies exist for the coming series.

Those interested may phone the secretary, Miss Dale Sutherland, at 4-8222.

Local school children 12 years and under have been invited to take part in an international museum poster contest, school board officials announced today.

The contest is part of a campaign by museum officials in Canada and the United States.

Total advance polls for the four Greater Victoria constituencies recorded between Thursday and Saturday were:

Victoria City 236, Oak Bay 105, Saanich 142, Esquimalt 59.

Esquimalt Community Hall Club will hold a tea Tuesday, at 2 p.m., followed by bingo in the evening at the Community Hall.

Three young soldiers from Gordon Head camp stood side-by-side in the dock at city police court today charged with taking a car without the owner's consent.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Ewlen D. McLaren and Thomas W. Roberts, while Ronald B. Asselin pleaded guilty.

All three were remanded until Wednesday by Magistrate H. C. Hall for trial or sentence.

The trio is accused of taking the car from the National Motors Ltd. lot on Yates.

George Ready For Debate With Lydia

Victoria Social candidate Mrs. Lydia Arsens today gave Victoria Liberal candidate George Gregory "five minutes" on the platform in the Lower Crystal party rally with her Tuesday.

Friday, Mrs. Arsens took exception to remarks made by Mr. Gregory at an all-party rally. At that time she said "I challenge Mr. Gregory to come to any platform with me between now and election time."

Today, Mr. Gregory accepted. He said: "I will be at her meeting tomorrow night ready to debate with her and her running mates on any subject they choose, from taxes to integrity."

Said Mrs. Arsens today: "I'll give him five minutes of my 20-minute time, and take time to answer him afterwards. We haven't time for a running debate. It's too late now."

But she specified Mr. Gregory must "say exactly" what he said at the rally Thursday, at which he hit out at the Victoria lady.

In part, he said then: "I didn't wage a campaign to stamp out TB in chicken livers. I didn't even accuse the medical profession of holding back a cure for cancer."

Mrs. Arsens takes these remarks personally.

Whether or not Mr. Gregory will accept the challenge on this limited basis is not yet known.

Cop-Killers' Appeal Gets Under Way Here

Carey Looks Weary; Gordon Motionless

Appeal of Joseph Gordon and James Carey against a conviction of murdering a Vancouver policeman opened today at the Courthouse here before a full court of five justices of the B.C. Court of Appeal.

The accused were convicted by Assize Court jury of shooting Constable Gordon Sinclair when he left his prowler car to investigate a report that men were acting suspiciously in the vicinity of a fuel company plant near Granville Street bridge.

They were sentenced by trial Justice A. M. Manson to hang July 10, but a stay was granted to Oct. 16 pending hearing of the appeal.

Gordon and Carey, escorted by two policemen, appeared in court to listen to their lawyers argue their appeals.

PALE, WEARY
Carey, a dark young man, looked pale and weary as he listened to a review of his case. He was wearing a black suit and tie and a white shirt. His companion, Gordon, wearing a brown jacket and black trousers, sat erect and motionless beside him.

The Crown claims Gordon was the man who actually shot Sinclair during an attempted robbery. Carey, it alleges, was a party to the crime and therefore as guilty as Gordon.

Lawyer N. Mullins, opening the appeal on behalf of Carey, Davey, J. M. Coady and F. H. Sheppard.

Mr. Mullins said the Crown's case also was entirely circumstantial and no one had seen the shooting which took place at dusk last December.

Carey's companion, Gordon, is defended by L. E. Hill. Gordon's defence at the trial was an alibi that he was in downtown Vancouver with friends when the shooting took place.

Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran as court chairman, assisted by Justices Sidney Smith, H. W. Davey, J. M. Coady and F. H. Sheppard.

Guard Dies in City Jail While Watching Prisoners

A civilian guard, hired by the RCMP to watch over convicted murderers James Carey and Joseph Gordon while they are lodged in city jail during an Appeal Court hearing, collapsed and died early today.

An RCMP spokesman said Sidney Catt, 530 Sturdy, was found slumped on the floor of the jail about 1 a.m.

He was given inhalator treatment on the spot, then taken unconscious to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he died at 8 a.m. Death was apparently caused by a stroke.

The RCMP official said Catt was stationed in a lobby in the jail where he could observe the two men in their cells throughout the night. City police make routine checks of the cells at different times.

The RCMP keeps a list of men, usually pensioners, who are available for such work.

Carey and Gordon will be lodged in city jail for at least three days this week during the hearing of their appeal against conviction of murdering Vancouver police constable Gordon Sinclair.

Both men are under a death sentence.

SEVENTH DAY FOR 'SITDOWNER'

Sign telling her story is displayed by "silicosis sit-downer" on Legislative Building steps, Mrs. Bea Zucco, Vancouver, who today entered seventh day of her "strike" for a Workmen's Compensation Board pension for her husband. No government official has come near her; she intends to sit through Sept. 19 election "and maybe longer." Mail came addressed to her today "On Steps of Legislative Buildings." If no government inquiry follows her actions, she hopes to take matter to courts with help of Vancouver lawyer. She claims TB scar tissue in her husband's case covers evidence of silicosis he suffered as interior miner. There is no pension for TB but there is for silicosis.

Construction of CHEK-TV combined studio and transmitter in Saanich is coming along according to schedule, he said. Although building the foundation had been slow he thought once the work on the walls commenced progress would gather momentum.

"As soon as a roof is on we're moving in," Mr. White said. This, he thought, would take place during the first part of October. Broadcasting would begin some two weeks later.

He explained that the technical apparatus, including the transmitter, the camera, switchers and so on, was now being assembled by Westinghouse in Hamilton, Ont. There they would be tested as a unit then loaded on a van and shipped directly to Victoria. In this manner, he said, installation of the apparatus would be greatly expedited, taking no more than three or four days.

DISNEYLAND
Children's programs, Mr. White said, will include Lassie, The Lone Ranger, Wild Bill Hickok, Disneyland, NBC's brand new Circus series, plus top-quality western films. There will be western action shows for adults as well.

In the way of all-Canadian shows CHEK-TV has secured Cross-Canada Hit Parade, The Jackie Rae Show G-E Showtime, Denny Vaughan, All-Star Theatre, G-M Theatre, Country Hoedown, Holiday Ranch, Plouffe Family, Pick the Stars, and possibly Graphic.

ASK The TIMES
Q.—Are any of the banknotes issued by the Bank of Canada worth a premium in the numismatic market? D.M.A.

A.—Yes. The first issue of bills was made by the Bank of Canada in 1935. That issue was printed in both English and French, but the bills were not dual language bills, part of the issue being wholly in English and part wholly in French. Many more were printed in English than the number in French. The result is that the bills in French are much scarcer now than those in English. All Bank of Canada notes of the first issue, of all denominations, are worth a collectors' premium, those printed in French commanding a higher premium than those in English.

Q.—What is the proportion of English in Canada to French? L.T.

A.—The 1951 federal census showed that those speaking only English totalled 9,587,595 and those speaking French only totalled 2,741,812. Those speaking neither English nor French were 152,775. As yet no statement on the June, 1956, census has been made.

With football season under way, and the Victoria Symphony concert series about to begin, a pair of opera glasses will come in very handy through the fall and winter seasons. An opportunity to buy excellent quality glasses at a remarkable low price is given you shoppers in the market for a special gift for someone, or a treat for yourself.

Regularly priced at $7, one type of opera glasses is selling for $5. Another, slightly larger and more intricate pair were $10 and are now $8. Both styles have natural leather carrying cases lined with protective velvet. Now you can have front-row viewing for every event, and at a reasonable and appealing price.

The wonders of science and advancement in cosmetic manufacturing has now offered to today's woman beautiful hands at very little expense and effort. Short, brittle nails that seem to break just as fast as they grow, or are difficult to shape can be given a new lease on life. For $1.95, you can buy a plastic-encased build-a-nail set that includes a bottle of liquid, a bottle of powder, a brush and a number of nail forms. The forms are fitted over the nail, and through a series of applications of the powder and liquid, a nail is built. It stays on tight and can be filed, cut and polished. Nails are lengthened, strengthened and protected, and the "build-a-nail" grows with your own nails.

Long, glamorous nails, easily and quickly aren't an impossibility any more for the ageless problem of broken nails has been solved—you just build a nail.

Fall-Toned Chrysanthemums
Seen at Candlelit Wedding

Autumn tones of bronze and gold were featured in floral decorations of chrysanthemums in Church of Our Lord Saturday evening when Barbara Dale became the bride of John Leighton Hurley. Dr. J. G. Brown conducted the double-ring marriage ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dale, 2666 Dalhousie Street, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hurley, 1841 St. Ann Street. Tall yellow tapers completed the setting.

The bride chose a full-length gown of sheerest nylon organza posed over tulle, and a bouffant net ermine. The slim-fitting bodice featured a wide, oval neckline banded with a shirred net insert edged with seed pearls. The same trimming formed a panner on the full skirt. Tulle and seed pearls created a headband which held her chapel-length veil and she wore a pearl necklace and earrings set. Green orchids formed her bridal bouquet.

Stamp Collecting a Hobby
To Interest Your Children

By NANCY CLEAVER

Did you know that the great-est of all stamp collectors, Count Philippe von Ferrari, started his hobby when he was around 10 years old? His mother, a wealthy Italian duchess, realized that her bright, moody son needed an interest to take his thoughts off himself. The boy was nervous and sickly. He developed a great enthusiasm for stamps, and spent his years and his fortune on the profession of philately.

Nancy

Stamp collecting, unlike gardening, is not confined to a certain time of the year. Another great advantage of a stamp hobby is that it can be started in childhood and carried on all through life. Many strenuous physical activities, such as tennis and other games, must be limited by most people as they grow older. Not so stamp collecting.

Both boys and girls fall under the spell of stamp collecting, and collectors are found in almost every land. Both King George I and Franklin D. Roosevelt were ardent collectors. Clara Bow built up a wonderful collection. Some wealthy men have amazing collections, and many individuals in modest circumstances have used their wits and their knowledge, to gather a collection of which they can be justly proud. Countless hobbies have engaged mankind for hundreds of years, but this most popular of all modern leisure time pursuits is only a little over a century old. In 1840 the first stamp, with its likeness of Queen Victoria, was issued in Britain.

Today in practically every country in the world, stamped envelopes carry letters and parcels are sent by mail. It has been estimated that there are now well over 150,000 different kinds of stamps. To own one of each kind is an utter impossibility, because of this vast number. Some have become very rare. There is only one known specimen of a famous one-cent British Guiana stamp. Parents do well to buy a big world stamp album and an "all different" package of stamps for a son or daughter to introduce him or her to stamp collecting. If a child develops a keen interest in stamps, there is plenty of time later on to specialize in stamps from a particular country, or time or type or size. Thin gummed pieces of paper called hinges must be used to fasten stamps into an album. To paste or glue them to the pages ruins the stamps.

A child learns to be careful in handling stamps, because they are easily damaged. A standard postage stamp catalogue, a magnifying glass, a perforation gauge and a benzine cup in which a stamp's water marks may be detected are standard pieces of equipment.

Many new Canadians have simulated stamp collecting by using the stamps on letters from their homelands to give or sell to friends. Geography, history or interest in travel are all encouraged by stamp collecting.

Stamps, like a vaccination, may not "take" with your child, but he should be exposed to philately. An interest in stamps may prove to be an absorbing and enjoyable hobby which will enrich his whole life.

"Interesting people have interesting thoughts" is an often quoted saying. The great variety of stamps today is a reminder of the fair world in which we live with all kinds of people earning their living in many different ways, and yet at heart very much the same. Stamp collecting may swing open the door for your child to many new adventures in learning. Don't neglect this hobby when you choose a birthday, vacation or Christmas gift!

Guaranteed Debt

The printed budgets of every finance minister of British Columbia with all most negligible exception are today on file in the provincial library. From Mr. Taffoe, the exact if taciturn treasurer of an early day, to Mr. John Hart, the dean of former B.C. finance ministers in point of service, they have set out the state and status of the provincial debt. Mr. Hart, served by essentially the same staff as Finance Minister Bennett, year after year, listed the direct debt, the guaranteed debt and the contingent liabilities of the province without equivocation. From the gross of what was owing and active he deducted the sinking funds and other reserves to post the net debt. And Mr. Hart's reports were accepted throughout Canada.

The direct debt of the province is comprised in its direct borrowings under its own hand. The guaranteed debt is—as it states on every debenture so issued—the province's guarantee of both the principle and interest of borrowings issued under the name of some provincial agency other than the treasury itself. The contingent liabilities under Mr. Hart and previous treasurers were provincial guarantees from the past such, for instance, as the former debts of the Grand Trunk Pacific before it was absorbed into the CNR. Up to Premier Bennett's time most of the liabilities listed as "contingent" were little more than book entries in situations where B.C. responsibility long ago had run out.

To call any part of the guaranteed debt of the province a "contingent liability" is a misnomer. It is debt with a double guarantee. The B.C. Power Commission will likely retire its successive loans without help from the treasury. The PGE on the other hand can scarcely repay its capital debt within the lifetime of living generations. The Toll and Bridges Authority may be somewhere in between, depending on whether the tolls are run out or lifted to serve some future political need.

Whatever it may be called, borrowing is debt especially when the seal of the crown is stamped on it. The present administration gains little by departing from the former method of listing British Columbia's funded obligations. It may on the contrary lose something in public confidence in its representations.

—Daily Colonist, Sept. 13, 1956

The Liberal Party Pledges:
INTEGRITY IN REPORTING THE PUBLIC DEBT

A Court Without Evidence

Mr. Bennett has discussed former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers during his Interior B.C. election campaign. The premier has made pious pronouncements and ceremonial gestures—and in so doing has indicted himself before the bar of public opinion.

"... what poor Sommers has to do is to clear himself, in his own constituency," says Mr. Bennett. "It is up to the local people to do the nominating, not me. He has been accepted."

"Now, nobody has charged him with anything, and he is not the one being sued. And now that his name has been spread over the headlines, he knows he must clear himself."

"He is trying to clear himself, first with the local people, the highest court then in the courts."

"He must do that before he comes back into the cabinet."

Mr. Bennett is quite correct in saying nobody has charged Mr. Sommers with anything in the courts.

And he uses a fine phrase when he talks about Mr. Sommers clearing himself "first with the local people, the highest court in the land under our democracy."

But Mr. Bennett himself has effectively stultified this "highest court in the land under our democracy" by depriving it of the facts on which alone it may reach an honest judgment.

The court of public opinion has been paralyzed, and Mr. Bennett has been the paralyzing agent.

Opposition members of the legislature asked for the light to be turned on all facets of the Sturdy-Sommers case. Newspapers throughout the province have campaigned for disclosure of the facts which alone could repudiate or prove certain allegations. Mr. Bennett has kept those facts dark.

His Attorney-General, Mr. Bonner, has yet to act on the R.C.M.P. report arising from a special investigation of the issue—and this in spite of claims by members of the legislature that if certain statements are true then one man should be tried for impropriety in office, if they are not true another should be charged with perjury.

This newspaper does not presume, and has not presumed, to pass judgment on the merits of the case.

Mr. Bennett's pious statements on the whole issue ring hollowly from the campaign platform. Mr. Sommers, he says, is trying to clear himself first with the local people, the voters of Rossland-Trail, "the highest court in the land under our democracy." But Mr. Bennett has refused stubbornly to permit that court to have the evidence.

What a mockery to make of a cherished democratic institution!

Broadway Cast Ebullient In Readings on Bare Stage

NEW YORK (CP) — A few years ago a brilliant reading of Bernard Shaw's Don Juan in Hell proved Broadway was willing to fill a theatre to hear actors deliver the lines of a great dramatist from lecterns on a bare stage.

Producer Paul Gregory repeated the experiment with Stephen Vincent Benet's dramatic poem, John Brown.

Some of the most vivid moments belong to Aline McMahon, veteran stage and screen actress.

Opening night of the new season on Victoria Theatre Guild's Langham Court stage drew a capacity attendance Saturday.

The complicated suspense drama had an attentive if not too critical audience and might be said, on the whole, to have gone over fairly well.

Major share of the credit for this fact lies at the feet of one member of the small cast, Gerald Guest alone captured the necessary intensity and succeeded almost single-handed in effecting some spine-tingling moments. His performance was at all times intelligent and consistent.

Don Ross is a veteran of some top Theatre-Guild performances but as the who-dunnit writing ex-sweetheart of Margot Wendice, he fails to come to grips completely with what, in the first place, appears to be an under-developed character.

CAME CLOSE

Benita Considine, the candidate for murder, came very close to a satisfactory performance. She has a pleasing stage presence and vocal quality, but the acting as well as the diction needed more projection.

Roy Blodgett, in his one long scene with Guest, dealt only with the externals of his role. Most satisfactory supporting performance was given by Ray Hulet who was nonchalant and easy while conveying the underlying steel of the police officer.

A swifter more "keyed up" pace would greatly assist in smoothing out some of these defects in performance.

LET'S RESTORE Political GOVERNMENT

Politics is not a word to be ashamed of. Your dictionary defines it as the science of government based on certain principles and practised by qualified people.

The Liberal Party is a political party—not a "movement". It was founded on the great 19th century principles of tolerance, respect for individual rights and the widest possible freedom from centralized state control consistent with justice, order and social progress.

Liberal philosophy is not mystical nor dictatorial; it favours no special group; is neither radical nor reactionary. It is tied to no ready-made economic theories. It welcomes differences of opinion and encourages universal participation in public affairs.

Through all its ups and downs, the Liberal Party has never repudiated or lost sight of these principles. Over the years they have won for it the continuing support of the majority of thoughtful Canadians from coast to coast.

Today, the Liberal Party in British Columbia is no splinter group but an effective body of able citizens—men and women competent to handle our affairs with dignity, integrity and good common sense.

The Liberals are the only party with a full slate of sound, responsible candidates in every B.C. riding plus a program of sound, constructive legislation which they are pledged to carry out with all reasonable speed.

This is politics in the best sense. Let's get back to it!

LIBERAL PLATFORM HIGHLIGHTS

- Reduce taxes, beginning with the reduction of the provincial sales tax to 4% and the cutting of all car license fees to $10.
- Give true road value for car and truck taxes by building more and better roads, competently engineered and let by competitive contract only.
- Guard against dissipation of our natural resources—forest—fish—power.
- Establish a permanent Development Board to do for British Columbia what the Gordon Commission is now doing for Canada.
- Re-establish a full-time Labour Relations Board; extend workmen's compensation to include all commercial fishermen; provide arbitration rights for the Civil Service of British Columbia; refer all labour matters to the Standing House Committee on labour.
- Honour our responsibility to the aged, sick and poor.
- Form a Department of Youth Affairs under a responsible minister to aid our youth in education, sports, the arts and all their endeavors and to combat the ever-growing problem of juvenile delinquency.
- Meet disaster to agriculture with direct action.
- Restore the authority of Municipal Councils and School Boards.
- Revitalize the Provincial Advisory Committee on Indian Affairs.
- Re-establish true and conventional methods in stating the debt and financial position of the province.
- Respect the democratic function of the opposition, as criticism is the symbol of free society.

- There is so much to be done NOW to make this Country a better place in which to live. I want to help do this!
- I have a wife and three children. I want your children and mine to find a Country where they can make the most of their opportunities!
- I hope that you will see in me a new and better Liberal Party in this Province. I will do what I can to make it that way!
- Do you really believe that the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation Party has changed its ideas on Socialism? Do you think that the C.C.F. Party, let alone the people of this Province, believe that Bob Strachan is the leader who will take them into power? When C.C.F. chances were greatest in 1952, at a time when political allegiances were changing wholesale, they lost ground. How can they hope to make it up now without a Winch or a Webster to lead them?
- Do you resent being called on to vote AGAIN for a Government which, when faced with a decision either to clear Mr. Sommers or to punish his accuser, instead calls an Election and asks you to vote when YOU do not have the facts? Is this the Government that KEEPS YOU INFORMED?
- Is all this borrowing the PAY AS YOU GO Government promised us in 1953? Are you not just a little tired of GOVERNMENT BY CATCH-WORD?
- Do you believe the Premier when he says the Liberals and the C.C.F. Party have NO PROGRAMME and have NOTHING CONSTRUCTIVE to offer? Does he think that you will believe him if he says it often enough and loud enough? NO ONE ASKING FOR YOUR VOTE HAS NOTHING TO OFFER.
- I realize that in order to make a showing in this Riding, I will be receiving the support of those who would not vote Liberal under ordinary circumstances. This fact makes me more resolved than ever to be a representative of all the voters, rather than just a spokesman for my immediate supporters.

my side of the story

A Continuing Series
By THE DUCHESS OF WINDSOR

Now (as wife of the Governor of the Bahamas) I scarcely had a spare moment. Every morning at the Red Cross, each afternoon at the canteen. Here I did a little of everything; but I found that my real talent was a short-order chef.

I never kept track of the number of orders of bacon and eggs that I served up, but on the basis of 40 an afternoon and 365 afternoons for nearly three years, I arrive at a rough total of about 40,000. And that's a lot of eggs.

One of the military censors confided to me that the principal item of news in the outgoing letters from the troops to their families was their account of just having finished a plate of bacon and eggs personally served and prepared by the Duchess of Windsor.

Everyone was considerate of me; everyone helped, whether at the Red Cross, the canteen, the bazaars and garden parties to raise funds, or the cocktail parties I gave to introduce each new contingent of R.A.F. cadets as they arrived.

I was busier than I had ever been; but each day, with its continuing chores, brought the satisfaction of useful work gladly done. I had come to these people as an utter stranger; now I felt almost as if I had always been part of their lives and they of mine.

Moved by this feeling of identification with the island life, David and I decided that the best contribution we could make was to found clinics for the care of expectant mothers and young children.

We had observed the woeful lack of such care on the outlying parts of the island of New Providence; therefore we built our first clinic on the western part and another on the eastern. They are, I am happy to say, still being maintained.

WAR MOVES AWAY
By early 1944 the war had begun to move away from our island shores. The U-boats had been driven back into the mid-Atlantic; the American Rangers who had been training for the battle of Europe, and the British Commandos who had been preparing for the invasion of Burma, had moved out. Only the R.A.F. training activities remained at a high pitch.

David's duties now became increasingly perfunctory. Craving more active service and hopeful that his hard work there would merit his assignment to a post closer to the important theatres of war, he wrote to friends in the government, suggesting a transfer. All that Winston Churchill could do for him was to offer the governorship of Bermuda—exchanging one backwater of the war for another. Bitterly disappointed, David declined the offer and decided to finish out his war service where he was. It was clear now beyond all question that David's family were determined to keep him relegated to the furthest reaches of the Empire.

This attitude was not unexpected by me: I realized, nonetheless, how disappointed he must have been at heart.

Some considerable time before, I had decided entirely on my own volition and without his knowledge to make one last try to reach his mother and to heal the breach between them.

WROTE TO QUEEN

What I thought was a proper opportunity for such an attempt had presented itself at the departure for England of the Bishop of Nassau, the Rt. Rev. John Daughish. We had formed a warm friendship with him; moreover, he had been chaplain on board HMS Indomitable when David's father, as Prince of Wales, went to Canada.

Because of this old association, Bishop Daughish, I felt, was certain to be received by Queen Mary. I therefore decided to write a letter for him to present when he went to see her.

I still have the rough draft from which I composed the letter. This is what I wrote:

Madam,

I hope you will forgive my intrusion upon your time as well as my boldness in addressing Your Majesty. My motive for the latter is a simple one. It has always been a source of sorrow and regret to me that I have been the cause of any separation that exists between mother and son and I can't help feeling that there must be moments, perhaps, however fleeting they may be, when you wonder how David is.

The Bishop of Nassau is leaving in a short time for England, having been appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Lang, as secretary to the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, an advancement over his post here. I thought if you wished to hear news of David you might send for him. His name is the Rt. Rev. John Daughish. He is a delightful man and has been of the greatest help to us here, not only through his understanding but his knowledge of local conditions on this tiny Isle.

He can tell you if all the things David gave up are replaced to him in another way, and the little details of his daily life, his job, etc., the story of his flight from France, leaving all his possessions behind. The horrors of war and the endless separations of family have in my mind stressed the importance of family ties.

I hope that by the end of summer we will be nearer that victory for which we are all working so hard and for which England has so bravely fought the way.

I beg to remain,
Your Majesty's most humble and obedient servant,
Wallis Windsor.

In due course I received from the bishop a letter telling of his audience with Queen Mary. She had shown keen interest in David's work in the Colony and had asked many questions. But when the bishop had mentioned what I was doing, with, I judge, some show of appreciation and approval, he met a stone wall of disinterest. However, some weeks later there did come a curiously oblique response. David read me a letter from his mother. In it was this sentence: "I send a kind message to your wife."

David was astonished. "Now what do you suppose," he asked in genuine bewilderment, "has come over Mama?" I made no comment; and David never received the answer to his question until he read this chapter.

AN EDITORIAL

MR. BENNETT'S CHICKENS
COMING HOME TO ROOST?

MR. ARTHUR LAING says that he detects a ground swell of resentment against the Social Credit government, and is cheered for the statement. There are many indications that he is right. Cabinet ministers are being heckled into silence at public meetings. Labor has come out flatly and told its people to "Vote anything but Social Credit." The farm vote is vocally hostile. Letters-to-the-editor are running ten to one against the incumbent party. The Premier is summoning hasty press conferences for the sole purpose of denouncing the press—a classic example, incidentally, of democracy in action.

All this is in marked contrast to the spirit of 1953, when the prevailing mood seemed to be: "Let's give them a chance." The government has now had three years in which to show what it could do; it could have had at least a year more, but called a snap election for reasons best known to itself.

How has its promise measured up with its performance? In the answer to that question may be found the reason for such widespread public discontent:

1. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "progressive reduction of taxes." Instead, it did exactly the opposite, until today British Columbia is the most highly taxed province in Canada.
2. Social Credit came to power on a firm pledge of "Pay-as-you-go." Instead, it has launched massive borrowings which have skyrocketed B.C.'s total debt to new heights, and at the same time has attempted—by a curious system of reckoning—to persuade people that the debt is lower than ever.
3. Social Credit has advertised widely that it "Keeps you informed." In the Sommers-Sturdy case, which both the Premier and the Attorney-General have attempted to dismiss as unimportant, it has done exactly the opposite; it has done everything it could to keep the voters in the dark. Only the courageous action of Deane Finlayson and three newspapers, and a decision of the courts, saved free discussion on this vital matter.
4. Since the advent of Social Credit, there has been a large-scale evacuation of top civil servants from the highways department and the P.G.E. These have been followed—perhaps circumstantially, but nonetheless ominously—by breakdowns at site.

These are but four firm, demonstrable facts contributing to public unrest about the government. Another, more abstract consideration, lies in what might be called the "tone" of government.

Arnold Webster put his finger on it, in that memorable all-night session earlier this year, when he asked the government if it couldn't muster "just a little humility" in its approach to affairs, and remember that it was a servant of the people.

The public would have a great deal more respect for Social Credit, we feel sure, if it would speak in a more even tone of voice; if it would admit that it made the odd honest mistake; if it would stop trying to denigrate the valuable work done by the good and decent people of other parties before it came to office. The bravura posturings, the snide innuendos, the blatant self-righteousness of the Premier and his ministers only serve to underline their immaturity.

Mr. Bennett has called his election at a time when he considers the opposition sufficiently divided to permit him easy access to office. The current ground-swell may give him pause.

The election is by no means a foregone conclusion. Largely overlooked in the hoopla of the hustings has been the fact that a loss of only three seats—and a gain of no new ones—could place the government in a minority position. With redistribution, there are 52 seats to be contested on Wednesday, which means that the government needs to hold 27 of its 28 seats for the barest of majorities.

Opposing parties have put many fine candidates in the field. It should be noted, however, that among them only the Liberals and the CCF have nominated a full slate of candidates, and thus can hope to form a governing body. In recent years, the socialists' popular vote has been on the decline, which makes the return of the CCF unlikely. For non-socialists, the Liberals therefore offer the only clear alternative to Social Credit. On two pledges alone—immediate reduction of the sales tax, and restoration of integrity to government—the Liberal Party platform deserves serious consideration.

UBC Head Asks More Education-Aid

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—The president of the University of B.C. said today a provincial government that can find $68,000,000 a year for highway construction can afford to contribute more generously to education in British Columbia.

"Despite evidence to the contrary, education is far more important than highways, pipelines or power developments," Dr. Norman A. MacKenzie told 500 delegates to the 52nd annual convention of the B.C. School Trustees' Association here.

Egypt Asks UN Vigilance on Suez

Hot Election Fight
Enters Final Days

British Columbia's election campaign, which has turned into one of the bitterest in recent history, today roared down the home stretch to the voting on Wednesday.

In the Greater Victoria area alone 12 campaign meetings are scheduled for this evening as candidates prepared their final shots for the voters.

Meanwhile, among party leaders, there was growing indication of the intenseness of the campaign, with these weekend developments:

1. In Vancouver, Premier Bennett denounced the Vancouver Sun for a front page editorial on "political trickery" last week and accused publisher Donald Cromie with trying to set up a "super government over the public representatives." Cromie described this as silliness.

2. In Mission City Saturday night Premier Bennett scuffled with a CCF candidate who rushed up to his platform to shout at him.

3. And in Victoria Liberal leader Arthur Laing declared:

"The people are suddenly rising... We have caught up with this government and have them on the run."

4. Attorney-General Robert Bonner has flatly and categorically denied a claim by CCF Leader Robert Strachan that the "Butler Report" contains a paragraph saying there is enough evidence to establish a prima facie case against former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers.

DELIBERATE
Mr. Bonner charged the Opposition leader with deliberately attempting to mislead the people.

"The deputy attorney-general has reviewed the RCMP report at my request," Mr. Bonner said. "He advises me that neither the paragraph described nor one to that effect are anywhere to be found in the report."

RUNNING STORY ON AIR

Times, CKDA Team
To Cover Election

The Times and radio station CKDA will co-operate in giving the voters of Victoria and southern Vancouver Island the fullest up-to-the-minute provincial election coverage on Wednesday night.

Polls close at 8 p.m. daylight time and The Times-CKDA team will swing into action immediately as counting of the votes begins.

A running story will continue through the night until local seats are decided and the main picture on the outcome of the election throughout the province is settled.

Province-wide as well as local summaries will be maintained on large blackboards at The Times and results will be supplied by telephone 2-3131 to the public. CKDA meanwhile will maintain continuous broadcasts from returning officers' stations and the main CKDA newsroom.

In addition, CKDA will have a microphone installed in The Times newsroom, where commentaries will be made as trends develop.

The Times team of commentators will include Legislative writer Norm Cribbens, Managing Editor Les Fox, and editorial writers Art Stott and Brian Tobin.

CKDA will have a full crew covering all angles, including station president Dave Armstrong, Manager Dave Hill, news director Andy Stephen, production manager Tippy O'Neill and newsmen Phil Barker, Bob Brooks and Bill Pike. The Times will feature complete coverage of the election returns, with reactions, in its Thursday issues.

U.S. Ready to Help Pay
For Hike in Oil Export

CAIRO (UP)—Egypt appealed to the United Nations Security Council tonight against the Big Three "Users Association" plan.

(UP and AP Dispatches)
WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles announced today that the United States is prepared to finance oil exports from this country to western Europe in case that transit through the Suez Canal becomes "impracticable."

He made the announcement to newsmen at the White House after conferring with President Eisenhower on the Suez crisis. Dulles left by plane this afternoon for a new conference in London on the Suez crisis. Dulles said that in event Egypt blocks the canal, there might have to be increased exports of oil from the United States to western Europe.

He said the U.S. government is prepared to finance such exports through the export-import bank.

As for a report that this country is prepared to put up $500,000,000 to finance a detour of the canal around the South African Cape of Good Hope, Dulles said the U.S. government has reached no agreement with any other nation.

In London, Dulles will participate in a meeting of 18 governments which failed in efforts to get Egypt to accept internationalization of the canal.

Island Plane Lands Safely on Highway

VANCOUVER (CP)—The search for a missing silver-colored Luscombe aircraft was called off today when word was received at RCAF search and rescue headquarters in Vancouver that the plane with its pilot and passenger had landed on a highway near Nanaimo.

Pilot H. Forbes and his son, Barry, 19, both of Port Alberni, had been reported missing Sunday night on a 90-mile flight from Chilliwack, in the Fraser Valley, to Nanaimo. An RCAF spokesman said Forbes landed his plane at Mayors Landing in swirling fog shortly before 8 p.m. Sunday, the time he was due in Nanaimo.

A Canso aircraft of the RCAF flew out early today when no word was received from Forbes. The downed pilot notified authorities of his position shortly afterwards at 8:40 a.m. and the search was called off.

"Mr. Strachan's imputations are not only completely and utterly false, but unfortunately are typical of the loathsome nature of the campaign being waged by the opposition."

Premier Bennett's row with The Sun developed after he called a sudden press conference Saturday, following a stormy election meeting Friday night.

REQUEST REFUSED
The premier said he had asked publisher Cromie to give him front page space to reply to the stinging editorial of The Sun last week. He said Mr. Cromie had refused.

Today Mr. Cromie said the newspaper will carry on its front page any reply Premier Bennett may make to the editorial.

He said the percentage of the premier's material on page one will depend on its total length and "the closeness with which he, Mr. Bennett, holds to the editorial points."

The editorial, accusing the premier of "deceits and slick political trickeries," was carried on the front page.

In his statement at a press conference Premier Bennett called Mr. Cromie a "newspaper baron . . . trying to set up a super-government over the public representatives."

Mr. Bennett's statement also appeared on the Sun's front page.

The publisher today said Mr. Bennett's "belated Saturday noon request" for three front-page columns in today's edition was too late for serious consideration.

SILLY CLAIM
Mr. Cromie said the premier knows enough "to realize the silliness of suggesting that I conceive 'setting up a super-government over our public representatives.'"

At Mission Saturday the premier's scuffle with CCF candidate Nararajan Crewall climaxed a rowdy election rally attended by 600 persons of mixed political sympathies.

SEIZED BY LAPELS

Mr. Grewall rushed from the rear of the crowded hall to the platform during one of several outbursts of heckling and admonitions by the premier, who seized him by the coat lapels and advised him to sit down.

The ensuing scuffle, which resembled a waltz around the microphone, was broken up by several of the premier's supporters seated on the platform.

Tension mounted again when a youthful heckler, who had called the premier a liar, left the platform hurriedly when Mission Reeve Edward Jones threatened to call the police.

Hardly one of Premier Bennett's statements passed without loud comment from hecklers during his two-and-a-half-hour address which ended without a question period.

"I want the people of this province to watch what is happening here tonight," Mr. Bennett said.

"It's not your province, Bennett," came the reply.

"You never saw Social Crediters act like this," said the premier, drawing cheers from supporters.

He repeated his promise that Social Credit will wipe out the provincial debt by 1962.

OFFER TO BET
"You won't be here in 1962," retorted a heckler.

"I'll be here in '62, you'll never get us out," said Mr. Bennett, and offered to take a wager on it.

In an interview outside the hall after the rally, Mr. Grewall said he had been trying to question the premier about a "hellous open letter."

It was alleged the letter had been sent to many Mission residents. Mr. Grewall, said to be the first East Indian to run for provincial office in Canada, said the letter attacked his citizenship and honesty.

It marked the 16th anniversary of the Battle of Britain. Similar ceremonies were held at RCAF bases across the country and overseas.

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain remembered Battle of Britain Sunday with country-wide memorial services and RAF parades.

About 150 relatives of airmen who died in action were among the large congregation at a thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey.

Huge Firepower Amplifies U.S. Middle East Forces

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON—The United States, in this time of new crisis in the Middle East, has about the same number of military units and slightly less military manpower deployed in the European-Mediterranean area than it had four or five years ago.

But in the intervening years the precise current figures are military secrets, the over-all American military strength in Europe is about 320,000.

Those forces could unleash firepower greater than all American forces in Europe in the Second World War.

Defence department spokesmen emphasized today there has been no sudden buildup of American forces as a result of the dispute over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. This is in line with proclaimed government policy against using the force of arms to keep the canal open.

So far as can be determined (the precise current figures are military secrets), the over-all American military strength in Europe is about 320,000.

Lydia Fires Blast At School Textbooks

Some B.C. school textbooks are leading children into delinquency, Mrs. Lydia Arsens told a Social Credit meeting Saturday night.

The Victoria city candidate alleged that these textbooks "are teaching our 13-year-olds how to date their girl friends when they can't even remember to keep their ears clean."

"That sort of thing leads to delinquency," Mrs. Arsens said. She referred to J. Alan Reid, who in 1952 blasted the Effective Living course then being taught in B.C. Mr. Reid said sex was being taught in the schools in the Effective Living course.

"We have to get rid of these books which were introduced by the old Coalition government," Mrs. Arsens said.

Effective Living was removed from the course of studies and a similar compulsory course, Health and Personal Development, is now being taught.

Ald. J. Donald Smith, another Victoria Social Credit candidate, referred to the hecklers who have been interrupting Premier Bennett at recent meetings.

"We don't mind the odd heckler. It shows we have a democracy. But organized heckling is a sign of poor sportsmanship," he said.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, the third Victoria Social Credit candidate, stressed the need for a civic auditorium in Victoria.

"The climate here is suitable for conventions all the year round and Victoria could draw some of the largest if it had an auditorium," he said.

Mr. Chant said the capital city grant for Victoria would be increased to $75,000 next year. He added that Liberal candidate George Gregory had said he would ask for a $500,000 grant "but he did not say he would give it."

Effective Living was removed from the course of studies and a similar compulsory course, Health and Personal Development, is now being taught.

Giant Fiery Meteor Streaks Across Saskatchewan Skies

REGINA (CP) — A fireball streaked across a partly-clouded Saskatchewan sky at sunset on Sunday.

Early reports from thousands of persons who saw the meteor's two trails of thin white cloud indicated the mass may have struck the earth somewhere in the north.

Three RCMP detachments were searching a wide area of bush and prairie near Kelvington, 100 miles east of Saskatoon. Meanwhile, it was learned that the white "trail" had been seen farther north, and a Regina astronomer speculated that a more probable landing point would be just beyond the Prince Albert National Park.

Persons in nearly every city, town and village in the province said they saw the meteor.

John Hodges, director of the Regina Astronomical Society's observatory, said the cloud trails were 40 to 50 miles above the earth.

VARY IN SPEED
Dr. W. B. Currie, head of the University of Saskatchewan physics department, said meteors travel at varying rates of speed.

They generally burst into flame because of frictional heat caused when they enter the earth's atmosphere. The heat could have caused this one to explode.

Mrs. Mary Walker, Saskatoon StarPhoenix correspondent in Shellbrook, 30 miles west of Prince Albert, said the meteor appeared there at 6:45 p.m.

It was accompanied by a "rumble like thunder" and an explosion that shook buildings 10 miles away, she said.

Mrs. O. C. Leubke, who lives about six miles from Holbein, Sask., told Mrs. Walker the explosion banged open their front door.

"We thought it was a jet plane," she said. "It left a bluish white vapor trail in three separate spirals."

Houses were shaken at Shellbrook, Holbein and nearby Sturgeon Valley.

Mrs. Walker said the meteor was seen in the southeast sky in her district. But persons in Prince Albert and 38 miles north in Anglin Lake saw the meteor to the north.

And Waskesieu observers in the Prince Albert National Park said they saw it to the south.

tionalization of the canal operations.

Dulles reiterated in a formal statement issued after his conference with the president that "we are not trying to organize any boycott of the canal."

In order to achieve a united appeal to the UN, Dulles is understood to be ready to consider major revisions in a plan for a Suez Canal users' association. Co-operative establishment of the plan is the principal purpose of the new conference.

This proposal, originated by Dulles but unveiled by Prime Minister Eden last week, calls for the 18 nations to demand that their own pilots be permitted to guide their vessels through the 103-mile canal.

Reports from London say 16 out of the 18 countries which originally backed the plan for international control of the canal have accepted invitations to the new conference there Wednesday.

But many expressed misgivings about the idea of the users' association and made it plain they were not committing themselves in advance to adopting the plan denounced by Egyptian President Nasser as a step toward war.

Meanwhile, Egypt reintroduced the three-convoy system to speed ships through the canal. Convoys were cut to two during Saturday and Sunday after most non-Egyptian pilots quit.

Russian pilot-trainees were aboard four ships in the third convoy that left Port Said today. A third southbound convoy was due to leave there tonight.

The Russians were being instructed by Egyptian pilots. It was expected the Russians would train for 10 days to two weeks before taking ships through on their own.

Today's three convoys totalled 36 ships. There were eight ships on the first southbound convoy and four in the second.

At the same time, 24 ships were moving northbound from Suez.

Shipping lines operating through the canal to and from British and European ports today announced a 15 per cent boost in freight rates. The increase, effective Tuesday, will cover added costs caused by any delay in moving through the canal.

British papers began warning their readers of possible oil rationing and higher food prices.

Beat Socred' Ad Issued By Labor Body
Organized labor in Victoria spoke out publicly today against the "snap election" called by the Social Credit government for Wednesday.

Secretary of Victoria Labor Council Percy Rayment released contents of an advertisement to be published prior to the election, headed "Defeat the Socreds."

It says: "Because... thousands disenfranchised by snap election; Government employees denied equal rights under the Labor Relations Act; 'Control of our natural resources passing into the hands of large corporations; 'No public investigation of charges of corruption; Get out and vote."

It is the first time former Trades and Labor Congress segment of the new Victoria Labor Council has ever taken an active, outspoken stand in politics, Mr. Rayment said.

The statement follows stands taken by the council in a regular meeting two weeks ago, and a statement of policy issued by B.C. Federation of Labor, provincial organization of the former Canadian Labor Congress.

32 Seamen Perish As Ship Founders

BODOE, Norway (AP) — The body of a second man killed in the sinking of the American freighter Pelagia was pulled today from the icy sea off Norway.

All the ship's 37 crew members except five men plucked Sunday from a bobbing lifeboat were feared dead.

The lifeboat also contained the body of a steward who died of exposure. An air-sea search for survivors went on.

A low-lying search plane sighted the second body drifting among the debris and oil slick where the Pelagia sank in a raging storm Saturday night.

Three planes and a score of ships and fishing boats crisscrossed the area of the shipwreck off Norway's northwest coast.

There was a slight chance that survivors could have been washed ashore on one of the hundreds of rock islands that dot the area.

Survivors said they last saw bridge, damaged the part of their shipmates on the deck of the crushed three of the four life-sinking freighter. They said that boats.

PATIENT 'EXCELLENT'
Surgeon Given Instruction For Operation by 'Phone

EDMONTON (AP)—A woman's leg and possibly her life, too, have been saved by two RCAF doctors who performed an emergency operation after receiving instructions by long-distance telephone.

Mrs. Orphie Olson was taken to the RCAF surgery at Fort Nelson, B.C., early Saturday morning suffering from a clot in the main artery to her right leg.

The two doctors on duty, Flt. Lt. Dick Foulkes and Flt. Lt. Derek Waller, fearing gangrene would set in before the 59-year-old woman could be flown to Edmonton, 450 miles southwest, for an operation, decided to operate on the scene.

Not being qualified surgeons, they telephoned Dr. John Callaghan of the University Hospital, Edmonton, for advice as to how to operate. For nearly three-quarters of an hour, the doctor explained the procedure point by point.

JUSTIN HARBORD

The following is a letter received Sept. 14th by Justin Harbord:

Sept. 11th, 1956.

Dear Mr. Harbord:

The enclosed ($3.00) is to help your campaign in the coming Election. I know it is not very much, you know our old fellows of the first war on pension have not much left to spend after paying the high cost of living.

Wishing you and all the other Candidates running for the old Party every success.

Yours,
JUST AN OLD TIME CONSERVATIVE
(Without the Progressive)

"I do not believe it is necessary for the people of British Columbia to be the highest taxed people in Canada, nor that deserving people such as the author of the above letter should suffer hardship through continuously rising costs. I am a Conservative believing in this party's principle of orderly progress without extravagance. Your vote will give me the necessary support to put these principles to work serving the people of Oak Bay and British Columbia."
